Thousands of Lowell People View Brilliant Historical Pageant Staged on Natural Amphitheatre

300 YEARS OF LIFE RE-TOLD

South Common Scene of Grandest Exhibition in History of the City

Lowell's Development From Indian Days Beautifully Portrayed

Presentation Based on Established Facts Attains Unapproachable Success

Lowell's first big pageant was held on the South common last night before 38,000 of the city's people and for two and one-half hours 1500 men, women and children in the guise of persons of local and even national renown stepped from history's pages to faithfully depict scenes and events closely linked with the development of this community from its inception 300 years ago, up to the present day.

Successful beyond imagination, interesting beyond conception and beautiful beyond compare, the pageant was a living monument to the honor of its authors and participants and an accomplishment unparalleled in local theatrical annals, at least.

A Vast Crowd of Spectators

Never, within memory has such a crowd gathered at one spot in Lowell to witness an occasion of any nature. Larger multitudes have fringed the streets for war-time parades, but last evening's crowd made a peacetime record that will stand for some time, or until the next pageant is presented. As far as the eye could carry, in almost every direction, people sat and stood in never-ending masses. Solid banks of humanity blocked in the natural common stage on three sides; covered almost the entire length and breadth of the Summer street slope; stood 12 rows deep on either

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL

Gift of $1000 by the 1920 Class Feature of Graduation Exercises

The announcement and presentation of a gift of $1000 to the school building fund from the class of 1920 was one of the happiest features incident to the graduation of that class from Rogers hall school today. Speaking for the graduates, Miss Faith Harrington of Providence, R. I., president of the class, presented the splendid gift to the school, with Miss Olive Sewall Parsons, principal, accepting it for the trustees.

The commencement week festivities, which have not been smiled upon by the weather but which were just as enjoyable as in other years, came to a close shortly after noon with the annual alumni luncheon attended by a large gathering of local and out-of-town guests. The luncheon followed the graduation exercises held in the gymnasium at 10 o'clock.

This year's graduating class numbered 30, including two Lowell young women, Miss Sonja Borg and Miss Eleanor Whidden, both in the academic course. Diplomas were presented to the following named:

Academic course—Gerardine Blackman, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Sonja Borg, Lowell; Frances Brewer Brainer, Newton; Eleanor Bloor Carpenter, Manchester, N. H.; Faith Harrington, Providence, R. I.; Salome Johnston, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Janet Ramsey Nicholson, Altona, Pa.; Helen Charlotte Ohehaus, Albany, N. Y.; Helen Louise Robinson, New Rochelle, N. Y.; Angeline Pindal Bush, Omaha, Neb.; Helen Smith, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Rosalie Smith, Milwaukee, Wis.; Lucilla Helen Wentworth, Skowhegan, Me.; Eleanor Whidden, Lowell.

College preparatory course—Katherine Auer, Corry, Pa.; Genavieve Burger, Goodland, Ind.; Ethel Marjorie Collins, Forge Village; Mildred M. Donnelly, Southampton, N. Y.; Helen Louise Fogg, Norwell; Helen Euphemie Friend, Lawrence, Kan.; Dorothea Caroline Hake, Cincinnati, Ohio; Rachel Plummer McCalmont, Franklin, Pa.; Helen McCullough, Cincinnati, Ohio; Margaret Moore, Thornstown, Ind.; Carolyn Adah Robinson, Newark, N. J.; Margaret Johanna Schaefer, Beaver, Pa.; Helen Bernadette Tracy, Bristol, Conn. College course—Lorna Curtis Bugbee, Winchester; Elizabeth Clark Hayes, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Lois Callista Niles, Utica, N. Y.

The exercises opened with a commencement march composed and played by Mr. George C. Vich, Rev. Chauncey J. Hawkins offered the prayer and Miss Parsons presented Captain Andre Morize of Harvard university as the speaker. Capt. Morize, by this time widely known in the city, chose to speak upon the topic, "The Idea of Culture." Rev. Appleton Granis, rector of St. Anne's church and president of the board of trustees, conferred the diplomas to the graduates and Miss Harrington, class president announced and presented the class gift of $1000. Miss Parsons responded and Rev. Mr. Granis pronounced the benediction.

TRIAL OF JACK DEMPSEY OPENS

World's Heavyweight Champion and His Manager in Court at San Francisco

Charged With Conspiring to Evade the Selective Military Service Act

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—William Harrison (Jack Dempsey) champion heavyweight pugilist and his manager, Jack Kearns, charged with conspiring to evade the selective military service act, appeared for trial today in the United States district court here.

The indictment charges specifically that as a result of the alleged conspiracy, Dempsey falsely swore that his mother, father and wife were wholly dependent upon him, and that he thus obtained deferred classification.

Attorneys for the government announced that Mrs. Maxine Dempsey, divorced wife of Dempsey, would be called as a witness for the prosecution.

LOWELL MEN APPOINTED AS INVESTIGATORS

Following the receipt of a number of complaints from people who claim to have been swindled by various investment companies of the "Get-Rich-Quick" variety, who have been operating in Middlesex county for several months, District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts has appointed Attorneys Cornelius J. O'Neil and Fred S. Harvey of Lowell to be special investigators of these cases. They are to report back to Mr. Tufts and should the evidence warrant it, the matter will be presented to the grand jury at some future date.

PREPARE FOR FOURTH OF JULY

City Fathers Instruct Mayor Thompson to Make Arrangements for Observance

Only $600 Available—Police Department to Have New Automobile

Machinery was set in motion at this morning's regular weekly meeting of the municipal council for this year's observance of the Fourth of July when it was voted on motion of Commissioner James E. Donnelly that Mayor Perry D. Thompson be authorized to make arrangements for the municipal observance of the holiday and to have the purchasing agent obtain a display of fireworks for the South common on the evening of the holiday.

There will also be band concerts in various parts of the city during the afternoon and evening, according to present plans. There is now available an appropriation of $600 for the observance of the day, but last year $1000 was spent for fireworks alone and the band concert expenses came out of the regular band concerts appropriation. An additional appropriation will be necessary if the same program is to be followed out this year, but the council made no move in this direction this morning. The celebration will be held on Monday, July 5, inasmuch as the holiday falls on a Sunday this year.

Mayor Thompson was also authorized to have the purchasing agent buy a new automobile for the police department at a cost not to exceed $2500. The new machine will replace

Stephen Vaitses, of the Pilgrim chapel, Market st. The remains were viewed by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, who attributed death to natural causes.

"We Make Treaty Issue—We Ask Approval for What We Have Done"

The People Will Now Tell Us What They Think of Wilson's League

Bay State Senator Flays Wilson Administration in Key-note Speech

CHICAGO, June 8.—The country must drive President Wilson and his "dynasty" from power and defeat the League of Nations as he desires it, declared Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, temporary chairman of the republican national convention, in his keynote address here today.

Defending the senate's opposition to the treaty of peace as a high and patriotic duty, the senator flung down this gauntlet:

"We make the issue; we ask approval for what we have done. The people will now tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's league and the sacrifice of America."

While emphasizing the point that around the league must be waged the 1920 presidential campaign, and devoting much of his speech to arraignment of the Wilson administration, the senator found time to lay before the delegates the stand of the republican party on other salient problems facing the nation.

Time to Act on Mexico
Chief among these was Mexico. Declaring it was time for the United States to act on Mexico, he said:

"Peasants in the Swiss mountains use horns often eight feet long, to converse with one another from a distance."

Session Promises to Be a Record Breaker—Many Ballots May Be Lost

Many Wild Reports—Triangular Deadlock May Result in "Dark Horse" Victory

Hughes and Coolidge Still Hold Pole Among the Possibilities

CHICAGO, June 8.—Unique in the annals of the party, the republican national convention today opened unbossed, unbridled and with no presidential candidate having enough votes in sight to assure his nomination.

It promises to be a record-breaker in all respects. It may cast more ballots than any other republican convention since Garfield was nominated in 1880 before the party standard-bearer is named.

Convention Leadership
There is still such a complete absence of bosses as to leave the convention in a state of confusion.

STREET LABORERS WILL GET $5 A DAY

Laborers of the street and sewer department of this city will be granted an increase of 50 cents per day, bringing the average scale of wages to $5 per day, on July 1, Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy said today.

Agitation for a $5 per day wage has been going on since the first of the present year. Commissioner Murphy offered an increase in March which brought most of the men to $4.50 per day and in the latter part of May offered 25 cents additional, but the latter offer the municipal employees' union has never accepted. However, the additional 25 cents is on this week's payroll, payable next Friday. If it is accepted, the July 1 advance will be 25 cents and if it is not accepted, the increase will be 50 cents. At any rate, it will bring the laborers pay to $5 per day in most instances.

In order to grant the increase for the last six months of the year an extra appropriation of approximately $37,000 for wages will be needed. Commissioner Murphy says that members of the city government have agreed to vote for the money if he recommends the increase and in view of that fact, he sees no other path to take.

Asked when he would bring the matter before the municipal council, Commissioner Murphy said that an order would be introduced some time between now and July 1.

Should this order be passed it is probable that laborers in other municipal departments would also expect $5 per day and policemen and firemen would want $6 per day. Commissioner Salmon of the water department has stated that it will be impossible for him to increase the wages of laborers in his department on his present appropriation, and the entire situation points strongly in the direction of a supplementary budget in July if the wants of the various department employees are to be met.

ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has been notified that Richard P. Lannan of this city is absent from duty without leave from the U.S.S. Florida.

THOUSANDS TRY TO ENTER HALL

Crowds Surround Chicago Coliseum in Attempt to Get in for a Look

Only a Fraction of Those Who Applied for Seats Could Be Admitted

No Change in Line-Up Discernible When Session Opened at 11.34 O'Clock

CHICAGO, June 8.—Hours before the doors were opened at the Coliseum today, thousands were waiting and hoping to get in for a look at the unbossed republican national convention. Only a fraction of those who applied for seats could be admitted, however, due to the hall's capacity of more than 10,000.

Political activities moved out of the hotel district and into the Coliseum itself with the assembling of the first session. It was the first opportunity for the various managers to meet the delegates together and instead of buttonholing them singly and in groups they went after them in delegation.

Keynote Speech by Lodge

Today's proceedings in the hall had little to do with the actual business of the convention.

vention leadership. Chieftains who spoke with authority in the days gone by, are standing on the side lines, having a chuckle while the delegates go through the experience of having a "people's convention."

It is true that several score of delegates are instructed either by their district conventions or by state primaries, but nobody, including their own state leaders, knows how long they are going to stand hitched.

The air is thick with reports of delegation conferences at which it has been decided to stand by the favorite son or instructions only on enough halts to comply with state laws or (fill) the good faith that goes with a primary expression of preference.

May Invite Stampede

For instance, one candidate issues a statement and serves notice that he wants no complimentary or favorite son vote, but wants the real thing with a will to win. Almost at the same moment his state delegation has a meeting and the delegates decide among themselves to give him all the first ballot and split up various ways on the others.

The situation presents an opportunity for some shrewd leader to step forward at the psychological moment and invite a stampede. Practical politicians agree that an unbridled convention is an easy mark for a runaway.

Balloting in Previous Sessions

A glance at convention records since Lincoln was nominated in 1860 discloses the unusual prospects for the present one. In those conventions the balloting was as follows:

Year	Nominee	Ballots
1860	Lincoln	3
1864	Lincoln	1
1868	Grant	1
1872	Grant	1
1876	Hayes	2
1880	Garfield	36
1884	Blaine	1
1888	Harrison	6
1892	Harrison	1
1896	Mckinley	1
1900	Mckinley	1
1904	Roosevelt	1
1908	Taft	1
1912	Taft	1
1916	Hughes	3

Triangular Deadlock

Overnight reports and rumors from candidates' camps and delegation headquarters shed no new light on the situation. A triangular deadlock between Wood, Lowden and Johnson still appeared the almost certain result to come on the first trial of voting strength Wednesday or Thursday, with probably more than a score of favorite sons, dark horses or individual ad-

CHILD SAVED BY MOTHER

Gertrude Lamarre, 6-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Auguste Lamarre, 23 Main street, Sanford, Me., was saved from the prompt action of her mother who administered Dr. Tru's Elixir.

Dr. Tru's Elixir wrote the following to Dr. J. P. True & Co.: "My daughter, Gertrude, had dizzy spells and could not even go out for the always complained of being sick. She used your elixir (Dr. Tru's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.) She never had any more. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and fully belly, with occasional griping and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red spots sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851—over 68 years' reputation. Everyone can improve their health by simply looking after the bowels with a pure herb, laxative which Dr. Tru's Elixir will promptly relieve all worry and disorders. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

Hughes and Collidge

It was this situation that gave dark horse talk additional prominence yesterday in the hotel lobbies and with it came an undercurrent from arriving delegations of suggestion that after all, it might be wiser to put forward a candidate whose name had not been involved in the senate inquiry into pre-convention expenditures and activities of presidential aspirants.

Again the name of Charles Evans Hughes required in these discussions and Gov. Coolidge of Massachusetts also was mentioned. Senator Borah said Judge Hughes would be "formidable" if the convention were compelled to seek a dark horse nominee.

Borah to Visit Treaty

The Idaho senator served notice later at Senator Johnson's great press meeting which was an outstanding convention eye feature and, incidentally, another departure from precedent, that he proposed to carry his argument against the League of Nations covenant to the floor of the convention itself. Haunted by Senator Johnson as "pioneer" of the senate battle against the covenant, Senator Borah said he did not propose to compromise the treaty issue. Republican and Democratic leaders, he said, were leaning toward such action, and Senator Johnson alone of the presidential candidates was not willing to compromise "American independence and sovereignty."

Johnson Makes Plea

The California senator, presenting his case to an audience largely composed of delegates, declared that the "doctrine of humanity and Americanism" he preached was one that he would always preach "without limit or compromise."

There was more talk during the night of the possibility of short cutting convention preliminaries by making the temporary organization with Senator Lodge as chairman, the permanent convention structure. This would save many hours of organization work, it was argued.

One effect of such a short cut would be to assist in getting the tentative platform ready for early approval by the convention. Progress already made, particularly with the treaty plank, was said to be highly satisfactory. There still remain points to be worked over and views to be heard, however.

"Dry" and Labor Leaders Active

These include platform proposals of the national board of farm organizations in behalf of agricultural interests, efforts of "dry" forces to supplement their sweeping victory yesterday before the United States supreme court with a party declaration for rigid enforcement of the law thus upheld, and also the appearance before the resolutions committee of Samuel Gompers and a committee from the

Montreal convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The supreme court's decision had no marked effect in convention circles. Leaders seemed to feel relief that the matter was settled and that it was not now necessary to deal with the issue in the platform. Efforts of the "drys" for a party declaration are designed to put a spoke in the wheel of any movement for future legislation to take light wines and beer off the proscribed list.

Hughes and Coolidge

Timely contributions aided the women's national party to mobilize 150 "pickets" before the convention opened and threw a cordon of silent, banner-bearing sentries along the front of the Coliseum similar to the patrol before the White House while the suffrage battle was on in Washington. Municipal authorities by direction of Mayor Thompson, had announced that the pickets would not be interfered with.

Lowden Master in Home State

CHICAGO, June 8.—Gov. Lowden goes into the republican convention undisputed master in his home state as a result of his victory last night in the Illinois caucus over Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, but probably will lose the 17 Cook county (Chicago) votes which Thompson controls.

The Governor's state went through after one lost vote in which his forces defeated those of Thompson, 36 to 33. Senator Lawrence V. Sherman was chosen national committeeman to succeed Thompson and Senator Medill McCormick was named for the convention committee on resolutions which Thompson sought.

What Causes Wrinkles? What's The Remedy?

Stop to consider what produces wrinkles and sagging of skin. Premature aging, mal-nutrition, etc., cause the flesh to shrink, lose its youthful plumpness and firmness. The skin then is too large for the flesh underneath, doesn't fit tightly and snugly as it used to—it wrinkles or sags.

It must be plain that to tighten the skin, make it fit the face perfectly in every place, will effectively remove the hated wrinkles and bagginess. This is easily and harmlessly accomplished by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered salicylic acid in a half pint of witch hazel and using the solution as a face wash. The ingredients you can get at any drug store, of course. The results are surprising. The skin immediately tightens up, becoming firm and fresh as in youth. Every wrinkle and sag are affected at once.—Adv.

MANY GOLDEN PROMISES

Jobs and Purses Lure Delegates and "Professionals" Play Game

(Special to The Sun)
CHICAGO, June 8.—It's really a dear old-fashioned convention—the kind the professional politician dreams he'll go to when he dies.

If not golden streets there are golden promises, and a great flock of candidates with golden purses bulging from their pockets, and a cloud vista of political jobs—jobs for everybody, and everybody's friends and nothing to do but draw the pay.

Like all "good conventions," nobody knows what will happen. It has all the fascination of the bag-bag, the faro-wheel and horse-race. There are chances to pull "a little something" out. You can place a bet at good odds. You can get a real "inside tip" maybe. And you can see a real run for your money.

Professionals in Control

Like all real old-fashioned conventions, it is entirely in the hands of professionals. The public has not had any chance to meet things up. That notion that there would soon be "popular primaries" at which the voters of the party would decide what candidate they wanted—that fool notion has "gone berserk."

"Take it from me, boys," says the stout party, without shifting his cigar. "There's nothing in that primary stuff—it's just an added expense—leave it to us—the expense is less and the money is better placed."

The idea of selecting presidential candidates by primaries got its knock-out blow in Chicago in 1912 when the famous "steamroller" convention rode down the primary candidate, T. R., and substituted the G.O.P. machine candidate, William Howard Taft. That was a grand and glorious victory for machine politics and today's convention is the fruit of that blossom. Senator Miram Johnson alone threatens to upset the apple cart.

When, in 1916, the progressives who wanted to come back, came back, they were welcomed to seats in the back row in the gallery. The effort now is to keep them there and get them to toe the line with the old guard.

The same names will figure in the back-room conferences where the deals will be made. There is, to begin with, Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, the master mind of machine politics. Penrose can attend, but his lieutenant is there to advance his views. He has direct wires to his headquarters from his home in Philadelphia. With the delegates he will control (and this will include a good block from the south), he will have more influence than any other single man.

It might be an exaggeration to say that the real republican convention will be held in the ten-room suite on Cedar street reserved for Penrose and his friends.

Looker! So Many Bosses

Others who were mechanics of the "steam roller" convention in 1912, who will again be in evidence, are W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts—that shrewd millionaire paper manufacturer, who comes a sa promoter of the Wood candidacy; his political colleague, Henry Cabot Lodge, senator and author of treaty "reservations"; James A. Hemenway of Indiana, a survivor of the Fairbanks machine; Herbert Parsons of New York; Wm. H. Crocker of California, millionaire voice of the San Francisco chamber of commerce; John T. King of Connecticut, aide-de-camp to Penrose; Coleman du Pont of Delaware, who has made a few honest dollars in powder—the kind that explodes; A. T. H. of Louisville, Ky., a hard-working and powerful member of the old guard; S. A. Perkins of Tacoma, editor-politician, a graduate of Mark Hanna's political kindergarten; Rud Hynicka of Cincinnati, who knows Ohio politics; Franklin Murphy

Until He Took "Fruit-a-lives" Or Fruit Liver Tablets

R. R. No. 1, LORNE, ONT.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. I treated with doctors and tried nearly everything without benefit.

Finally, I tried 'Fruit-a-lives'. Before I had used half a box, I saw improvement; the pain was easier and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place."

ALEXANDER MUNRO,

500, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from FRUIT-A-LIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

of New Jersey, who has always represented G.O.P. New Jersey; Reed Smoot of the republican wing of the Utah Mormon church—all tried and true and competent to deliver.

They'll Name Candidate

When these political satraps have got together and matched ideas as to candidates and decided what, in their opinion, the voters will "stand for" in the way of a nominee, the choice will be determined.

Whether the lavish spending of money which has marked the pre-convention campaign will cease with the assembling of delegates and "bosses" remains to be seen. Mr. Lowden has denounced the direct purchase of delegates by the use of checks and it is understood that Gen. Wood is planning to take a similar high moral stand. The purchase of southern delegates is a matter of immemorial custom, and the only question about them is "how much" and "will they stay bought?" Other delegates are expected to bow to party discipline and to serve the country patriotically and (except for personal expenses) disinterestedly.

Like all old-fashioned conventions, this one has the interest of uncertainty. It is like watching a table full of gamblers in a big game of poker. The gallery doesn't get anything out of the game, of course, but it is interesting to look on.

GILSON GARDNER.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

Mrs. Woodchuck Talks

"Nancy sat near to one hall-door, Nick beside another and Tingaling, the fairy landlord, guarded the front, so that Wally Woodchuck couldn't get out. I suppose you think that if he had any brains at all he could have sneaked out the back way! Not at all. The Magical Mushroom was playing policeman outside, and Wally, peeping out the kitchen window, saw him, and knew the jig was up.

Mrs. Woodchuck was boiling the water in the parlor, while Wally was supposed to be digging sassafras for the tea, in the kitchen, the roots growing conveniently right through the ceiling.

Wally stroked his whiskers as he gazed with a queer smile at the sneaky roots. Then he got busy at something else.

Mrs. Woodchuck, as I said, was boiling the water in her little copper pot, and talking as fast as she could, while they were waiting for Wally. I suppose she thought that if she talked fast, the time wouldn't seem so long. The odd think?" said Mrs. Woodchuck, smoothing her apron. Everybody agreed that it was.

"I was just saying to Wally," she continued, "that it's good planting weather and there should be good crops." Everybody nodded "yes" that that was very true, too.

"And Wally was saying—" she went on, when suddenly scratch, scratch, thump, thump! came from the kitchen, and everybody jumped. "Oh, do sit down!" she waved them back smilingly.

"It's only Wally chopping the sassafras. It's pretty hard to loosen it up, you know."

Tingaling looked uneasy.

The Kind You Have Always Bought has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision for over 30 years. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Counterfeits, imitations and "just-as-good" are but experiments, and endanger the health of children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA
Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Chas. H. Fletcher
In Use For Over 30 Years
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, NEW YORK, N. Y.

is one which, it is declared, lovers of high-bred horseflesh never fail to endorse over. The name of this wonder horse is "Sunrise." He is a stallion, five years old, fifteen and one-half hands high and weighs 1,150 pounds. He was secured in Morocco for the show by Otto Floto, the noted sport writer and authority on horses.

One enthusiast recently wrote of "Sunrise":

"His iridescent body is as shining gold. His beautifully molded neck is full of lines and curves that would delight a sculptor. His milk-white silken tail and mane, his pointed ears, his well-formed face and his proud bearing all proclaim him the king of the stud! But most wonderful of all is this remarkable stallion's eyes. There is something about them that thrills and fascinates. If there are such things as hypnotic eyes among horses, 'Sunrise' has them! One cannot look at them without being affected."

"Sunrise," ridden by one of the comely and prettily-costumed girls of the circus, will be seen in the parade that, at 10.30 in the morning, will precede the two performances of the big show to be given in this city.

Many surprising things in the way of arctic novelties is promised for the Sells-Floto circus. In one big display, "The Flight of the Butterflies," a dozen daring young women are presented in the air at one time, all swinging by their teeth, and making a gorgeous picture of graceful movement and gorgeous coloring above the heads of the audience.

Three herds of trained elephants are presented by three daring young women, and in one riding number twenty clever equestrians and acrobats are simultaneously presented. There are many small animal displays, including remarkably trained ponies, dogs and monkeys. And so it goes—with forty clowns—count 'em—to keep the thrills from being too thrilling and to keep the kiddies from getting too excited by slipping in an occasional bit of irresistible comedy.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Autoists Arraigned — Man
Fined for Assaulting Officer—Other Cases

Six autoists appeared before Judge Earlight in police court today, charged with violating the glaring headlights law. Chief Redmond Welch summoned the men as a result of his ride on the Princeton and Pawtucket boulevards recently, when he was on the lookout for drivers who did not dim their headlights. Since it was the first offense for all and the men stated that they have been in the habit of dimming their lights, the charges were placed on file.

On May 30 Lieut. Connors arrested Douglas Warrall of Cambridge for failing to slow down and give the necessary signal when driving his auto along Westford street. Warrall pleaded guilty to all charges and assertions of the officer and was fined $5.

Amount on Officer

Hiram P. Heald was charged with obstructing traffic and assaulting an officer. Traffic Officer Frank Maloney testified that the defendant drove a horse and wagon from Middlesex st. into Central yesterday afternoon and stopped alongside the equestrians in such a way as to block traffic. The officer said that when he told Heald to drive on the defendant swore at him and clawed his face when he went to get into the wagon to drive it out of the way. Heald was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $30.

Disturbed His Sleepers

Peter Uzuraka wandered into the police station yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, carefully picked his steps up the stairs leading to the court, entered the ante-room opposite the court of second sessions and there settled himself comfortably for a nice, long rest. The dreariness of the day and something stronger than one-half of one per cent. soon put Peter to sleep. One of the court officers, passing through the corridor, was attracted by the snoring of the man and after a little trouble succeeded in waking him up and bringing him before the booking officer who booked him for drunkenness. Uzuraka was plentifully supplied with cash to purchase liquor and said that when he went to the station to buy it and to get a license from Mr. Flaherty, of the license commission, for the sale of such stuff.

Can't Locate Him

Two counts for assault and battery and one for larceny from the person are held against John Morowski, but he cannot be located at present. His case was called about a week ago when Judge Pickman who appeared as counsel for the defendant, asked for a continuance. Morowski was released on surety. The man who stood surety asked for a continuance for one week so that he could produce his man.

During the morning session, Chief Examiner Farrell was called away from the court room and the work of examining applicants was taken in hand by K. C. Small of Waltham, an examiner whose usual field is in Vermont.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION PICNIC

The annual picnic of members of the Notre Dame Alumnae association will be held this year on Thursday, June 24, at the grounds of the sisters of Notre Dame in Tyngsboro. It was announced today.

Plans are under way to make the 1920 affair more successful and elaborate than ever. Members of the association from all parts of the state will gather for a day's outing and the committee in charge has arranged a very attractive program. Sports, dancing, patriotic hymns, rowing, a personally conducted "hike" through the spacious grounds and benediction at the grove in the afternoon will be among the day's features. A basket luncheon will be enjoyed at noon.

An important business session will also be held in connection with the affair and one of the matters to be decided will be the election of two delegates to the board of management of the organization.

WILL RUN CAR TO

JOHNSON'S CORNER

Manager Thomas Lees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, is planning to run an extra car night and morning between Johnson's corner and the square, for the benefit of the campers beyond Lakeview. The car in the morning will leave the corner about 7:30 o'clock for the city, and at night a car will leave the square at 6 o'clock. At the present time, the company does not send cars out as far as Johnson's corner.

Although there are at present no more one-man cars ready for service in this city, work at the Middlesex street barn continues along the line of equipping and assembling them for other cities of the division. Manager Lees stated that before the company is through with the distribution of them, this city will have at least 25 in service. A repair gang on High street and one on Bridge street are resitting the tracks in several places preparatory to the use of the one-man cars on those lines. The tracks must be in much better condition for the new style cars.

For the past few weeks, Manager Lees has been spending his mornings in this city and his afternoons in Lawrence, as director of the two divisions. By the end of this week, however, it is expected that Manager Hayes of Lawrence, who has been in Lowell for some time, will resume the managementship there.

MISS HORAN HONORED

The home of Miss Alice K. Sheehan was the scene of a very delightful shower tendered Miss Bertha Horan last Thursday evening. Miss Horan is to become the bride of Mr. Clifford

Sullivan. The house was very handsomely decorated with apple blossoms, lilacs, palms, fernery and colored crepe paper. When the bride-to-be entered the house she was showered with rose petals and confetti. Miss Sheehan had carefully arranged the gifts in a prettily decorated parlor which was placed in the centre of the living room. After Miss Horan had opened each gift, she passed it around to all present. This done, an evening of amusement commenced. Singing and dancing was enjoyed by all. Music for the dancing was furnished by Miss Juliette Sheehan at the piano and Miss Aneta Richards played the banjo. Solos were sustained by the Misses Grace Cullen, Alice Dacey, Lucy Sharkey and Mrs. Gill Sullivan. A recitation was given by Madeline E. O'Donnell. Miss Horan was the accompanist for the evening. A luncheon was served in the dining hall, the table being elaborately, but delicately decorated in pink, the bride-to-be's favorite color. All present received very dainty favors.

MEXICAN REVOLUTION TROUBLES FROM MY AGE

Obregon's Chief Lieutenant
Fled by Hiding in Pile of
Sacks in Milk Wagon

MEXICO CITY—One of the exciting incidents preceding the revolt against President Carranza was the escape of General Benjamin Hill, chief lieutenant of General Alvaro Obregon, who fled from the capital hidden in a pile of sacks in a milk wagon.

General Hill vanished from the capital on the same night as did General Obregon, April 13. The wagon in which Hill was hidden was stopped by the police in the suburbs of the capital because it did not carry a light. While the driver was bribing the policeman to pass the lightless vehicle, General Hill dropped out of the back of the wagon and hid in the shadow of a building until the policeman was mollified.

Then the general crawled back into the wagon and continued his flight.

Mystery surrounding the fate of Roberto Celado, to testify in whose trial General Obregon was summoned to the capital, furnished one of the tragic highlights of the Carranza evacuation. With General Arnulfo Gonzalez, captured by Carranza government agents near Nuevo Laredo on April 20, and the aged rebel General Gaudencio de la Llave, Celado was taken from the military prison of Santiago Tlatelco here the night of May 6 when the Carranza adherents fled. Whether he was taken on the Carranza trains the next day and escaped, or whether he was executed together with the two others, remains a mystery. None of them has been located although several other generals, arrested prior to the evacuation, have returned to Mexico City.

Celado was arrested with his staff and 150 followers, at Jalapa, V. C., on March 23, after he had surrendered, received amnesty, been given the rank

Mrs. Baney tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Through the Change of Middle Life.

Rochester, Ind.—"My troubles were from my age and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully. I took doctor's medicine and other patent medicines but the Vegetable Compound has helped my nerves more than anything I have ever taken. I am thankful to the one who recommended it to me and will surely do my part in telling others what the medicine has done for me."

—Mrs. LETTIE BANEY, 403 East 4th St., Rochester, Indiana.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Baney.

of general in the Mexican army and placed in command of a district near Jalapa, where previously he had led a revolt against the Carranza government for six years. He was charged with surrendering merely to secure arms and munitions with which to aid Felix Diaz.

The Carranza government charged that he had offered to aid Obregon but Obregon, in an interview given the Associated Press, branded the Celado charges as a scheme to bring him to Mexico City, involve him in charges of treason and block his campaign for the presidency.

The progress of Ygnacio Bonillas, formerly Mexican ambassador to the United States and Carranza's candidate for the presidency, from the Mexican embassy in Washington to a camp in the jungles of Vera Cruz and back to a prison in Mexico City was marked by stirring episodes. He is reported here to have figured in a shooting affray which occurred on March 23 near Tlalpam, a suburb of Mexico City, which the papers supporting his candidacy intimated was an attempt to kidnap him.

The special train carrying him to Guadalajara was stopped near the city by a missing rail. He reached Guadalajara safely but the incident was the basis for numerous alarming reports. Then came his flight from Mexico City with Carranza, starting May 7 and ending in a dash from the beleaguered trains on May 14.

His good fortune saved him from death when Carranza was slain in the camp at Tlaxcalantongo and he was brought here to be imprisoned until the provisional president decided his fate.

When Captain Felipe Sanchez Carranza was captured near Texcoco, a suburb of Mexico City, after he had been injured while making a record landing in his big bombing plane, he shot himself. Captain Sanchez was a nephew of president Carranza. He attempted to reach Vera Cruz via the air route when Mexico City was evacuated on May 7.

ARTIFICIAL ICE IN MAINE
GARDINER, Me., June 7.—Artificial ice has replaced Maine ice in the large city markets. With the decision of the American Ice Company to demolish all its icehouses along the Kennebec river and at Boothbay, landmarks of what was once one of Maine's principal industries, are disappearing.

In 1897 there were 26 large icehouses on the river. Of these 15 had been burned, nine torn down and several blown over. Control of the Kennebec ice industry was obtained by the American Ice Company in 1901 and for several years ice was harvested to the capacity of the houses. Little or nothing has been done the past 20 years.

HOME GARDEN OUTLOOK VERY POOR HERE

Officials of the local chamber of commerce freely admit a serious doubt in their own minds and even an out and out failure to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion relative to what the organization might do to further the development of home gardens in Lowell.

A week or so ago, H. A. Jenks of Waltham, county agent for the state board of agriculture expressed a willingness to come to this city to discuss the matter and also that of a public market. At that time, however, he desired to postpone his visit until the state legislature had definitely settled the fate of the so-called public market bill, making it optional with a city or town to establish such a market upon the petition of 3 per cent. of its registered voting strength. The legislature long before took the teeth out of the bill when the word "may" was inserted before "shall" rather than the obligatory "shall" as the act was previously worded.

Now the measure has been passed, but as yet nothing has been heard from Agent Jenks, although he assured the local chamber that he would visit Lowell as soon as this law was passed or turned down.

Already the chamber, through its board of directors, has gone on record as favoring and endorsing an extensive home garden development, but for the present its officials do not know exactly what else can be done. It is thought that the season has advanced too far to warrant the establishment of a farm bureau and no other alternative has come to mind. Suggestions will be gladly welcomed and whatever the chamber possibly can do, it will be only too glad to consider.

It is possible that word will be received from Mr. Jenks almost any day and that some action will be forthcoming as a result.

nomination; they were merely a routine, but indispensable preliminary to the sessions to follow.

True, the preliminaries include the keynote speech by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, and that is the really big business of the first day. Whether the temporary organization with Senator Lodge as chairman is to be made the permanent one, was still undetermined today. While last minute arrangements were being made, no change in the line-up was discernible and the various managers frankly admitted they saw no tangible evidences of which way the wind is going to blow. They were still looking forward to the first ballots which will come during the middle of the week, to develop to point the way to courses of action.

The convention actually opened its first session at 11:31 o'clock. Chicago time.

Hall Fills Rapidly
Forty minutes before the convention was due to open, the band struck up and the delegations began getting into position. The hall was filling rapidly, and many of the notables were arriving. There was a remarkable absence of confusion. The old timers said it looked almost as tame as four years ago.

Blistering Hot Here

The delegates and onlookers today faced a blistering hot sun and it was uncomfortably warm in the morning hours. The weather sharps had predicted "generally fair, and not much change in temperature" but the crowds could not take that view.

There was an early start toward the Coliseum, many of the late night stragglers acting a bit weary, with a long sleep head.

Scissors Sell Tickets

Around the hotels a few barkers offered tickets to the convention at fabulous prices with few buyers. The crowd was wise, knowing that today's session would supply no excitement.

The candidates were up and about early. Campaign managers were on the job, taking stock, and hoping to find out if there had been any overnight changes in the lineup. In the rush to get to the Coliseum, nobody paid much attention to the morning conferences with candidates and there was evidence that this method of obtaining publicity was wearing itself out, for some of the leading aspirants went down road yesterday that there was nothing to say.

Everybody "Up in the Air"

Everybody was still up in the air as to who would win the nomination, and from all sides there was a volley of inquiries as to when the job might be finished. Also for many the weather was of more vital interest than the nomination.

Less than a dozen state delegations had failed to hold a caucus, but with the exception of Georgia and possibly one or two others, there was no light ahead and little interest was displayed.

Old Days Not So Bad After All
The main idea was to get to the convention hall, to see the breakaway and hope thereby to get the right slant on the possible outcome. There was a lot of talk about the Johnson mass meeting and the declaration by Senator Borah that he would transfer the long senate treaty fight to the floor.

But in the general groping, the doubt, confusion, mess and muddle, all of the delegates except those fighting inch by inch for their favorite candidate, seemed to agree that the old days, when leaders showed them the way, were not so bad after all.

Johnson, an Atlanta negro who led the fight of the Lowden delegates before the republican national committee, was today elected national committeeman from Georgia by the state delegation.

The Wood delegates, headed by Roscoe Pickett, the defeated candidate for national committeeman, announced that they would carry their fight to the credentials committee of the convention. Johnson, at the hearings, had told the national committee he would forego his hopes of being national committeeman if the Lowden delegates were seated.

Meeting in Detail
The meeting was called at 10:07 with all members present.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for a pole location in Dalton street. A representative of the Walter L. Parker Co. protested. Referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. was granted permission to erect three poles in Middlesex street near the crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad.

On recommendation of Commissioner Murphy a sewer assessment of $31.38 against the property of Mary B. Leach in Richards street was abated.

Commissioner Murphy explained that a private sewer had been laid at the property in question and later the city built a sewer. It was agreed by all parties concerned that in view of the circumstances an abatement of half the assessment would be agreeable.

A partial abatement of the sewer assessment against the property of John J. Flaherty in Wyman street was also voted after an explanation by Commissioner Murphy.

a sidewalk, was introduced by Commissioner Murphy and passed without dissent.

Commissioner Murphy's order to lay a sidewalk in front of premises at 34 Sanders avenue was referred to the city clerk's office for seven days.

Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following petitions, and the licenses were granted: W. L. Henzel, garage and gasoline, 323 Wilder street; A. O. Knapp, garage and gasoline, 302-4 Wilder street; L. H. Hovey, garage and gasoline, Chelmsford and Powell streets; James H. Rudolph, garage and gasoline, 14 E street; Margaret G. Morris, garage, 407 High street.

At the request of Commissioner Salmon a vote was passed transferring $55 from the general treasury fund to the credit of the fire department. It was explained that the Boston & Maine R.R. had paid this amount for hose, which it damaged but that the money had never been credited to the fire department.

A communication from the city solicitor relative to the petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for permission to lay underground conduits in West Adams, Wilder and Marginal streets, said that the city engineer had disapproved the petition and believed that an alternate location could be used. Accordingly, the solicitor recommended that the petition be given leave to withdraw "without prejudice" and that they be given the right to file another petition to have the conduits laid in Middlesex street. The recommendations were carried out by the council.

A similar petition from the same corporation for conduits in Charles and Lawrence streets was approved by the city engineer and the city solicitor recommended that it be referred to the inspector of wires before action was taken. It was so voted.

The mayor was empowered to execute a release freeing the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. from further liability in connection with damage to one of the trucks of the water department upon the payment of $55.50 by said company.

A contract between the purchasing agent and Anthony Pilato for a supply of crushed stone for the street department for the present season at $2 per ton, was approved.

City Solicitor William D. Regan reported progress in carrying out the instructions of the council to prepare the necessary orders for taking land in Gorham and Riverside streets for improvement purposes, but inasmuch as the titles had not yet been examined, the orders were not ready.

The city solicitor also reported that he had re-investigated the claim of Joseph W. Sugdin, at the request of the council, but could not find any liability on the part of the city. Accordingly, he again recommended leave to withdraw and it was so voted.

Marchand and himself, who had been appointed at a previous meeting to investigate the feasibility of the city buying mill No. 3 of the Sigel-Hartford plant in Market street for a fire-alarm school purposes. A conference had been held with members of the school committee, he said, and at that time it was decided to give up the project and to have the school board make other recommendations to the council at a later date.

Fourth of July Celebration
Mayor Thompson then brought up the matter of this year's municipal observance of the Fourth of July. He said an appropriation of $400 had been made early in the year for the observance. Last year the city's part in the day's celebration consisted of a fireworks display and band concert. The fireworks alone cost $1000 and the band concerts were paid for out of the regular appropriation for that purpose. He believed that some member of the government should be authorized to arrange with the purchasing agent for a fireworks display this year. That given last year was most satisfactory, he said.

Adjoined at 10:55 a. m. until Thursday. Commissioner Donnelly moved that day at 9 a. m.

the mayor be authorized to make arrangements and the motion was seconded by Commissioner Murphy and passed unanimously.

The mayor then asked for permission to have the purchasing agent secure a new automobile for the police department at a sum not to exceed $2000. The machine would do away with two horses now being used, he said, and the cost would be charged to the police department appropriation. It was so voted.

General Wood, in casting about for an excuse for the use of the millions that were expended in his behalf to pave his way to the presidency, blames it all on the primary systems that the people have been foolish enough to adopt. But people with memories are aware that there were Mark Hannas and big slush funds in the days before primaries had begun to cut much of a figure in American politics. General Wood was only following the established custom.

Former Senator Weeks says he has been looking for the Old Guard of republicanism and cannot find it. This is unfortunate since the former senator was once something more than a high private in the organization that neither dies nor surrenders. Perhaps, if he will consult his colleagues of "the big four" delegation from Massachusetts—Messrs. Henry Cabot Lodge and Winthrop Murray Crane—they will be able to steer him back to his place in the ranks.

Lowden refuses to accept the votes of the two delegates from Missouri to whom checks for $2500 were sent by his campaign manager, which they say they did not want and would not accept, yet did not return. Why—because they were too honest to be bribed, because they got found out, or because he thinks he will improve his chances of securing the nomination by refusing to make use of the goods that he has bought and paid for?

Certain republican leaders, who professed to be much worried by the remote possibility that American soldiers might be slaughtered some day on battlefields in Armenia or Turkistan, seem not to be disturbed at all in making plans which will require the sacrifice of many lives in Mexico to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the big "oil interests" owning wells in that country.

PROHIBITION UPHELD

The decision of the United States supreme court sustaining the 18th amendment and the Volstead enforcement act settles the various questions of constitutionality raised against the amendment itself as well as against the Volstead enforcement act.

The court has given out merely its conclusions without entering at length into the reasons on which those conclusions are based; but it is presumed that the findings of the court are legally sound. In effect they declare that having adopted a prohibition amendment, we must live up to it so long as it remains a part of our constitution. The same is true of the Volstead act which prohibits the sale or manufacture, except for medicinal purposes, of any beverage containing more than one half of one per cent alcohol.

It had been supposed that the individual states might have the right to say what is intoxicating and what is not, but the definition of congress on this point is binding on the various states. Hence it appears that if there is to be any more liberal standard of what is intoxicating than that embodied in the Volstead act, congress alone can give it effect. That seems to be the only elastic point left on which the "wets" can hang a hope of escaping a bone dry condition.

This decision removes the prohibition question from controversy and makes it as firmly grounded in law as any other part of our constitution. No longer can it be an issue in politics, unless somebody would advocate its repeal which at this stage is not at all probable. Prohibition, therefore, is now the law of the land, beyond even on any technical question of validity.

DR. BUTLER'S IDEALISM

Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, president of Columbia college, has given out an interview at Chicago which may convince some people that he is in the running. He volunteers some new information relative to the history of Article X of the treaty of peace. He claims the original plan was devised and given to President Wilson who submitted it to the committee on foreign relations as a substitute for the Monroe Doctrine. The committee promptly rejected the plan and nothing more was heard of it, until it came to the front in the League of Nations covenant.

Dr. Butler gave out a plan of his own for preserving world peace, under which the whole world would be divided into three great divisions or zones, the people of each to be held responsible for the maintenance of peace therein, so far as questions affecting their "primary interests" were concerned. This would require the use of force same as the application of Article X of the covenant. In Butler's plan there would be three bodies instead of one and in time they themselves would get involved in strife and engage in another world war. It might be waged by Europe and America against Asia or Europe and Asia against America.

We certainly want none of that arrangement although Dr. Butler's stand in favor of an international court of justice will meet very general approval. Somehow, the people of the country are not likely soon again to take up a college president for president of the United States. It is all very well to talk of the "scholar in politics," but at present the country wants a practical man rather than a scholar or an idealist to guide its destinies for the next four years.

THE BUDGET BILL

There is cause for regret in the fact that President Wilson found it necessary to veto the bill passed by congress providing for a national budget. The veto was necessary because of a provision contained in the bill which would have limited the implied constitutional powers of the president to remove inefficient and incapable officials from office.

Mr. Wilson is careful to say in his veto message that he is in entire sympathy with the main purpose of the bill to establish a national budget as indeed must every good citizen be who has any knowledge of the government's financial methods as they now exist.

At present, appropriations are made almost wholly upon recommendations of various committees of congress, none of which has any very clear and comprehensive knowledge of the needs of the government as a whole, and quite often with utter disregard of the requirements of departments other than the ones with which the particular committees are concerned.

Representatives of the different departments are obliged to run about from committee to committee presenting estimates and giving reasons why appropriations should be made.

PLATFORM OF INDUSTRY

The platform of American industry issued by the National Association of Manufacturers has many excellent suggestions for adoption by the political parties and very little to which any party can reasonably object. It is obvious from this declaration of principles by the manufacturers that they are striving for conditions under which industries will be free to carry on their legitimate business without unnecessary restrictions, without excessive taxation and without imposition by labor combinations. Specifically, the platform favors some relief from the provisions of the Sherman act yet fully protecting the interests of the public, a revision of the taxation system, to apply the law equally against all classes without favor or discrimination. By this provision is meant the necessity of providing for the open shop and protecting business people who do not want the closed shop from having it forced upon them.

Relative to the strike or lockout the manufacturers hold that neither should be allowed to impose hardship on the public. The doctrine laid down is "that strikes and lockouts should end where injury to the public begins."

The platform favors a budget system to promote economy and the refunding of our war indebtedness into long term securities and the postponement of sinking fund payments until industry has an opportunity to recover from the strain of war conditions—all of which is good advice.

On the question of transportation, this platform favors private ownership with permissive consolidation of existing systems under conditions which will promote economy and efficiency while maintaining rivalry in service.

On immigration, foreign trade, the merchant marine and war bonus, some good recommendations are made.

Altogether the platform shows that the manufacturers are ready to make any important advances toward meeting the demands of labor in order to secure industrial peace, but unfortunately there is no mention of collective bargaining, co-operative management or the adoption of any system of deciding upon a fair rate of wages in any industry.

THE CHICAGO BATTLE

Not for many years has a republican national convention opened with such a total lack of crystallization on either issues or candidates as in the present case.

The biggest leaders are almost as much at sea as to what is likely to develop as are the various state delegations which shout for candidates to whom they are pledged for the first few ballots.

Beyond the lining up of the strength of candidates who lavished large sums of money on primary contests, the first few ballots will be of little importance. It is when the instructed delegations break to dark horses that the fun begins.

There will be hot contests, no doubt, between candidates representing rival interests and rival sections of the country. Just how far these fights will go, it is impossible to predict, but they may develop pandemonium rather than harmony.

Should the Johnson forces find themselves beaten, they will be the leaders in causing trouble; if only for the sake of revenge. In that case, Johnson might run on an independent ticket. On the other hand, should Johnson be nominated, there may be enough advocates of the League of Nations willing to sacrifice the party changes of victory by running Hoover on an independent ticket.

It has been claimed that the democratic party, on account of the defection against President Wilson's leadership, will have but a slight chance of victory in November; but that all depends upon how things are handled at Chicago.

If the convention splits either on candidates or on platform, then a democratic victory would be reasonably certain, unless indeed the democrats should make a worse mess of things than did the republicans.

Although Chairman Hays of the republican national committee has been combing the country for ideas for the party platform, there is as yet no definite policy in mind on the more vital issues of the hour. President Wilson threw a great bone of contention into the republican camp when he made the League of Nations a political issue. With that out of the way, the republicans might be able to agree on the other questions pressing for settlement; but as yet there is no indication of unanimity on the most general principles with which a national platform at this time would be expected to deal.

All that is known definitely by way of preliminary data is, that Wood has 125 delegates pledged to his support, Johnson 112, and six other candidates numbers ranging from 76 for Sprout to 14 for Poin-dexter. On the great platform issues, it is known that a special committee has been assiduously working to produce something which would electrify the country, but so far as can be learned, it has thus far failed to accomplish the end in view.

There are many explosive elements in the Chicago convention which only wise management can keep from wrecking the whole political machine. Whether the leaders will be able to avert the danger is a matter of sheer conjecture even with men who are now taking a prominent part in the proceedings. Usually the republicans have been able to reconcile matters of the most divergent types, but since 1912, it seems that they have lost their capacity for harmonizing differences to an extent that threatens their future if not their total extinction as a party.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The new law prohibiting taking in this state without a license is having a good effect with some people, for yesterday a man who has been living in this city several years, but who "like many others has delayed in taking out his naturalization papers, told me that he was refused a license at city hall on the ground that he was not a naturalized citizen. "I have my second papers," he said, and am now waiting for my final, and until I am a full fledged citizen I cannot enjoy my favorite sport." This man is very anxious to take the oath of allegiance so that he may be able to try his luck with the rod and line and there are many others. A fishing license only costs 50 cents a year, but in order to secure one a man must be a citizen of the United States or the owner of property.

Those who happened to be present at the conference of representatives of the Municipal Employees' union and the municipal council at city hall Monday morning and who had not been previously familiar with conditions among employees of the street department were not doubt struck by the statement of Timothy D. Finnegan, president of the union, that although city laborers have the name of getting $4.50 per day, in reality they don't average more than $2.00 a week because of reductions caused by rainy weather. Mr. Finnegan said that in the past five or six months the street department men have had only three or four full weeks and that one week his pay amounted to but $14.63. Last week the street department men lost two days, Monday, a holiday, and Saturday, a stormy day. However, when Mayor Thompson asked the men if they would be satisfied with their present scale of wages if it were operative in both fair and stormy weather, the union officials said that they preferred a flat increase.

The number of Monday afternoon telephone calls which the girls in the local exchange have been called upon to handle for the past month or six weeks will be a result of the decision of the supreme court yesterday that prohibition is constitutional. Why? Well, if you recall, the supreme court has been expected to make the momentous decision Monday afternoon after Monday the past few weeks, but the decision failed to come until yesterday. But a large number of Lowell people, vitally interested, evidently, in the court's decision, have called up the newspaper offices every Monday afternoon asking about the decision. Time and time again the disappointing answer, "No decision has had to be given, but yesterday the spell was broken and the information that prohibition had been declared constitutional was available. No longer will anxious inquirers be kept in dire suspense.

I saw one of the most remarkable automobiles in Massachusetts on Sunday. In fact, the most unusual from the standpoint of registration, for it bore No. 1. We are so accustomed to seeing registration plates bearing four, five and six figures that a number of three figures or less attracts considerable attention. We have recollection of at least one Lowell car—and possibly there are several others—which has a number of three figures, but recall none smaller. When Sunday's No. 1 hove into sight we did what everyone along the way did—stopped, pointed and said, "Look, there's No. 1—doesn't it look funny?" Of course, there was nothing funny about it—someone, to be sure, must have No. 1—but somehow or other, it produced quite a shock. We later found out that it came from down Buzzard's Bay way and also met the driver and found him normal in every particular, despite the fact that he displayed the most unusual car number in the commonwealth.

The Man About Town was one of those who witnessed the wonderfully beautiful pageant given on the South common yesterday afternoon and he caught sight of a few incidents not likely to be told about in the regular accounts of the event printed in the newspapers. Circulating among the vast crowd it was interesting to note the unusually small number of very young children present. In keeping their babies at home, the mothers showed good judgment. Thus they saved the little ones from danger and the crowd from annoyance. The dance by candlelight was very pretty as a feature of the spectacle, but those who took part in the dance had their own troubles in handling the candles. It is not the easiest thing in the world to light a candle in the open air, and anyone who has tried to make it stand upright without a candlestick, after it has been lighted, is aware that the feat is rather difficult of accomplishment unless it is gone about in the right way. The young men and women were sorely troubled to make their candles remain upright and burning when they left them on the ground. Some tried to solve the problem by digging small holes to serve as candlesticks, others finally gave up in despair and let the lighted tapers lie flat on the ground. The wise ones though smeared the turf with the heated paraffin and then stuck the ends of their candles into it. Then there was the little episode of one of the leading dancers who went bravely on dancing after having injured her foot against a stake in the ground. The tipping of a canoe on the pond, dumped one of the occupants into the water and offered an opportunity for a quick rescue followed by a general laugh.

SEEN AND HEARD

Wonder what the home brewmaster thinks of the supreme court's decision.

We realize how furniture has gone up when we read of the money spent for a chance at the presidential chair.

To call a girl "sweetie" is some commonplace these days with the price of sugar soaring.

A man who is credited with knowing something about streets and street building paving, etc., says it is not only unsatisfactory, but downright false economy to patch asphalt streets.

PARK BOARD MEETING

New Bath House Life Guards and Playground Supervisors Appointed

Louis J. Turner, Daniel P. Brennan and James P. Lison were appointed life guards for the new municipal bath house off Pawtucket boulevard, at a meeting of the park commission held last evening. The three men are all veterans of the world war. Mrs. Ellen A. McEvoy was chosen cashier and Mrs. Rose Cox an attendant at the bath house.

John Lawrenson, D. Murray Cummings and Patrick Mullane were elected playground supervisors for the coming season.

The commission also discussed the supply of towels and laundering of towels and bathing suits in connection with the opening of the bath house and the superintendent was authorized to deal with the lowest bidder in each instance.

The C. I. Hood Co. was awarded the contract to print the annual report of the department at $1.50 a page, this firm being the lowest bidder.

The commission voted to remove one of the large trees in Moody street, opposite the city library, at the expense of C. H. Merrill, who had petitioned for the removal of two trees in that locality. The second tree will not be removed.

Charge of Arson

"Young Waggles" remarked Filp-son, as he made himself comfortable in a deep club armchair, "has had the laugh turned on himself in his little joke against the Flames Fire Insurance Company."

"What do you mean?" asked Filp-son. "Well," continued his friend, "he insured 500 cigars, smoked them, and then sent in a claim on the ground that they had been destroyed by fire."

"And, of course, he got laughed at?"

"Not a bit of it. The company has had him arrested on a charge of arson."—Pearson's Weekly.

How England Grows

A great deal of interest is taken in England in the question of coast protection. The ocean, assailing the cliffs, gradually tears them away, but this very process furnishes a defense for the land by building up long beaches of sand and shingle which arrest the waves before they can attack the cliffs. An effort is making to prevent, or better regulate the removal of this material for construction and road building, because in many places its removal has permitted the sea freely to exert its power of erosion.

The Ordnance survey has ascertained that in the last half century England has lost 6640 acres by sea erosion and gained 48,000 acres through reclaiming land the existence of which is mainly due to material brought down by the rivers.

In Memoriam

With the supreme court's decision "fresh from the press" it is very evident that Senator Wellington Wells of Boston knew what he was doing when he staged his little skit, "John Barleycorn, Requiescat in Pace" in the senate last Wednesday.

With funeral demeanor and solemn tones the Boston senator moved to take from the table, where it has slumbered since May 13 the last "booze" bill remaining for the consideration of the present legislature. It was based upon a petition of Francis J. Finnegan, president of the Democratic club of Massachusetts, and would permit the sale of any wine or beer which has not been subjected to artificial fermentation. The committee on legal affairs had made an adverse report on it, and it had been laid upon the table in the hope that the United States supreme court might render, before the end of the present legislative session, a decision which would permit the legislature to consider the bill.

Sensor Wells announced that all hope for such a decision had now vanished, and for that reason he thought it appropriate that the bill should be transferred from the table to its bier. Before committing it to the tender mercies of his colleagues, however, he said he felt the occasion required something in the way of a word of final parting, and he thereupon recited the following original poem, with apologies to Elizabeth Elzers Allen:

Backward, turn backward,
O Time, in thy flight;
Make me a cocktail
Just for tonight.
Push in a cherry
Shake up the gin,
I want to get warm again
Under the skin.
Hand out the millions,
Sing foolish songs,
Weep on the bartender,
Bligh the world's wrongs.
Backward, turn backward,
And give me one lastie,
For all my experience
Is going to waste.

Increase in Crime in Detroit

DÉTROIT, June 8.—Reaction from the war and present day criminal procedure was held responsible for the recent increase in crime by August Vollmer of the department of criminology of the University of California, who addressed the convention of the International Chiefs' association here today. The effects of the war upon crime, professor Vollmer said, would be noted in all countries for at least 10 years.

Big Reduction of Food Prices in France

PARIS, June 8.—Declines in the cost of necessities of life, which are general throughout France, are outlined by several newspapers today all of which declare that France is getting back to work and that a bon harvest is in prospect. Some say that the attitude of the public in buying only what is strictly necessary has had much to do with decreases in prices recently.

Victory for Turkish Nationalist Troops

PARIS, June 8.—Turkish nationalist forces have defeated government troops and have advanced to within about five and one half miles of Ismid, according to Constantinople despatches received by newspapers here.

Newfoundland Takes Control of Sugar

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 8.—The Newfoundland food control board, in taking over control of all sugar sales in this colony, has fixed the price at 30 cents a pound. The price will be stabilized at this figure until the end of the year at least. The board announced that its order was issued "to protect the public against the probable price of 40 cents a pound in a few months which would have been inevitable if this step were not taken."

Gen. March Greeted at Antwerp

ANTWERP, June 8.—General Peyton C. March, chief of staff of the American army, arrived here yesterday and was given a military reception by Belgian officials and American staff officers.

Military Rule in Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex., June 8.—Military rule prevailed in Galveston today as a result of Governor W. P. Hobby's order to Texas national guardsmen to take charge of the situation growing out of the protracted strike of longshoremen. Several thousand troops are here and other units are expected. The city is quiet.

Protests against the governor's proclamation placing the city under martial law continued to be made today. The city commissioners in addition to sending a protest to the governor, were reported to have instructed the city attorney to institute proceedings to deny a camp site to the guardsmen.

RAIDS FOLLOW "DRY" DECISION

Enforcement Agents "Celebrated" Ruling By Swooping Down on Steamers

Liquor in Barrels Labeled "Pickled Tripe" Seized—Text of Decision

NEW YORK, June 8.—Federal agents will redouble their efforts to make New York bone dry, James Shevlin, supervising prohibition enforcement agent announced yesterday, when he learned that the United States supreme court had declared both the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act constitutional.

Federal agents have arrested 50 alleged violators of the dry law in the last few days, Mr. Shevlin said, and even before that arrests were made at the rate of a dozen a day. He estimated that 75 per cent. of the saloons masquerading as soft drink establishments now will close, as he said they have been holding on with the bare hope that enforced aridity would be found illegal.

Closing of these saloons will make the task of enforcement agents easier, according to Mr. Shevlin, and in this United States Marshal Power of Brooklyn agreed.

Mr. Shevlin said he did not contemplate enlarging his staff, but if this should be found necessary he had 500 applications on hand and more coming in daily.

Enforcement agents "celebrated" yesterday's United States supreme court decision by swooping down on three steamships in Brooklyn and confiscating hundreds of bottles of whisky. This liquor was found in barrels labeled "pickled tripe," "pickled pig feet" and "corned beef," behind bulkheads and in linen lockers, water tanks, galleys and coal bunkers.

Yesterday's decision was misinterpreted in some quarters—for no particular reason—and impromptu celebrations were started at which it was reported liquors stronger than 275 flowed freely. When the truth, however, filtered into these quarters, gloom followed and the celebrations were transformed into "wakes."

In Wall street, too, interest yesterday centered on the Washington decision, but they produced no great effect on the market except in the case of United States Industrial Alcohol company and United States Food Products company shares, directly affected by the decisions. These stocks slumped slightly.

Text of Decision
WASHINGTON, June 8.—The full text of the supreme court decision upholding the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act follows:

"The adoption by both houses of congress each by a two-thirds vote, of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution sufficiently shows that the proposal was deemed necessary by all who voted for it. An express declaration that they regarded it as necessary is not essential. None of the resolutions whereby prior amendments were proposed contained such a declaration.

"The two-thirds vote in each house which is required in proposing an amendment is a vote of two-thirds of the members present—assuming the presence of a quorum—and not a vote of two-thirds of the entire membership present and absent. (Missouri Pacific Railway Co. vs. Kansas, 215, U. S. 276.)

"The referendum provisions of state constitutions and statutes cannot be applied consistently with

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A.C. Gilbrath, 702 Ford street, Erie, Pa.

I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man.

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 25 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

It stops chafing in five minutes and for scalds and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

The constitution of the United States in the ratification or rejection of amendments to it. (Hawke vs. Smith—U. S.—Decided June 1, 1920.)

"The prohibition of the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, as embodied in the 18th amendment, is within the power to amend reserved by article V. of the constitution.

"That amendment by lawful proposal and ratification has become a part of the constitution and must be respected and given effect the same as other provisions of that instrument.

"The first section of the amendment—the one embodying the prohibition—is operative throughout the entire territorial limits of the United States, binds all legislative bodies, courts, public officers and individuals within those limits and of its own force invalidates any legislative act—whether by congress, by a state legislature or by a territorial assembly—which authorizes or sanctions what the section prohibits.

"The second section of the amendment—the one declaring 'the congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation'—does not enable congress or the several states to defeat or thwart the prohibition, but only to enforce it by appropriate means.

"The words, 'concurrent power' in that section do not mean joint power or require that legislation thereunder by congress, to be effective, shall be approved or sanctioned by the several states or any of them; nor do they mean that the power to enforce is divided between congress and the several states along the lines which separate or distinguish foreign and interstate commerce from intrastate affairs.

"The power conferred to congress by that section while not exclusive, is territorially co-extensive with the prohibition of the first section, embraces manufacture and other intrastate transactions as well as importation, exportation, and interstate traffic, and is in no wise dependent on or affected by action or inaction on the part of several states or any of them.

"That power may be exerted against the disposal for beverage purposes of liquor manufactured before the amendment became effective just as it may be against subsequent manufacture for those purposes. In either case it is a constitutional mandate or prohibition that is being enforced.

"While recognizing that there are limits beyond which congress cannot go in treating beverages as within its power of enforcement, we think those limits are not transcended by the provision of the Volstead act, wherein liquors containing as much as one-half of one per cent. of alcohol by volume and fit for use for beverage purposes are treated as within that power. (Jacob Ruppert vs. Caffey, 251, U. S. 241.)

Called Wonderful Victory
"CHICAGO, June 8.—The supreme court's decision in the prohibition cases 'kills the liquor traffic as dead as slavery,' Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, who is here attending the republican convention declared in a statement on the decision. Prohibitionists, he said, now must fight against a beer and wine amendment to the Volstead act and against lax enforcement.

"The victory is the more significant," said Mr. Wheeler, "because of the unprecedented fight made against it by liquor interests and the eminent counsel which they retained. These decisions mark the culmination of the greatest victory for moral and social reform ever achieved by a self-governing people."

Dry Chairman Talks
CHICAGO, June 8.—Virgil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the prohibition party in commenting on the dry decision, said:

"This decision clinches the greatest reform victory in the history of this country, and perhaps in the history of mankind.

"The prohibition party will not, however, vacate the field until one or both of the major political parties have spoken in their platforms, making the effective their settled party policy."

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?
If you are troubled with backaches, it is a bet that they are caused by weak kidneys; they don't perform their duties, and you should look out, as there is trouble brewing.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, headache, dizzy spells, and it is more than likely to bring on rheumatism.

The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment, your sleep disturbed by being compelled to arise, one or more times during the night, because of the pain, irritation and abnormal condition of the kidneys and bladder.

If you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties.

When the kidneys are not doing their duty they allow impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which will cause serious trouble unless they are driven from your system.

If you eat meat regularly, you should flush the kidneys occasionally with SEVEN BARKS, as meat forms uric acid which clogs the pores, so they can not throw off the poisons.

Don't neglect your kidney trouble with the first symptoms, you will be sorry if you do. Get SEVEN BARKS of your druggist, at a cost of only 40 cents.—Adv.

SPECIALIZING IN BUSINESS

Speaking of specializing in business, Dean Willard of the Bentley school of Accounting of Boston, addressed an assembly of senior and junior boys in the high school yesterday at drill hour. When business today demands the man who has specialized, he said it was imperative that the students continue their studies beyond the high school as far as possible so that they may be able to fill positions of responsibility. Analyzing seven branches of business from direct management down to the buying and selling, Mr. Willard carefully advised the boys to make careful selection in order to give their talent the greatest scope possible.

Luncheon was served and musical numbers were given, those taking part in the musical program being Miss Diana Laviole, Master Raymond Lemieux, Miss Margaret Dow and others. The luncheon was served by Miss Ella Laviole, who planned the shower and she was assisted by Mrs. Harry M. Chesley of this city, Mrs. Clarence Nichols of Chelmsford and others.

LABOR'S BIG CHIEF

Samuel Gompers, 70 years young, 38 times president of the American Federation of Labor, and with a single year's intermission, the undisputed leader of organized labor since the formation of the federation in 1881, yesterday opened the 10th annual convention of the A. F. of L. at Montreal.

For many years Gompers' enemies in the federation have hoped and expected his defeat; the radicals in the movement have opposed him consistently; but year after year he holds his sway and the "Gompers machine" flattens out opposition, puts through resolutions, endorses the action of the "executive council" and re-elected Gompers president.

Gompers is facing one of the big fights of his career on the question of political action at this convention. Various branches of the federation have formed "labor parties" and challenged the time-honored policy of Gompers who has stuck to non-partisanship, and a policy of "rewarding friends and punishing enemies" in the political field. Two years ago, the convention changed the date of meeting from November to June in order that the convention might have more effect on the presidential and congressional campaigns. His friends expect him to hold his forces in line and secure an endorsement of the non-partisan campaign which the federation is now conducting.

"OLD SLATER MILL" TO BE PRESERVED

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 7.—The "Old Slater Mill," the birthplace of the cotton textile industry in America, is to be preserved as a show place and a museum for textile machinery. A committee of manufacturers has taken title to the property and later will turn it over to the city or to a permanent memorial association.

The mill was erected in 1793 and in it Samuel Slater started the manufacture of cotton fabrics. No plans for cotton manufacturing machinery were allowed at the time to be sent out of England, but Slater carried the plans in his mind and when he arrived in Pawtucket was able to work out almost exactly the famous Arkwright models. Some of the machinery which was made from his plans and used in the old mill is still in existence and will be exhibited in the museum.

The haircloth industry in America also had its beginning in the Slater mill. In 1853 a number of Pawtucket men began the manufacture of haircloth in connection with European manufacturers. The latter, it is declared, resorted to desperate measures to prevent the new industry spreading to this country and the Pawtucket concern was hard pushed and facing failure when a Providence inventor Isaac C. Lindsay, invented a self-feeding power loom which enabled them to compete successfully with European manufacturers.

On, yes; there are plenty of favorite sons. Nearly every state has at least one, but this convention has a favorite father. Freckles, that noted comic kid, came to bat today with the suggestion that the convention name his old man, picture herewith presented. Mr. Goosey has never dabbled much with politics, but once he was on the school board. He will accept if nominated.

Otto Auto, probably will be chairman of the resolutions committee. He has several planks to incorporate into prohibiting pedestrians from crossing the street. "Let 'em stay on the side where they are," is his slogan. Also he wants the convention to adopt the diver as the official emblem.

The dark horse candidate I was telling you about is the Hon. Santa Claus! Get that? If the kids could vote it'd be all over but the shouting. But at that the old gentleman is a likely can-

Congressional Nomination Costs 4 Cents

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Getting nominated for congress is cheap despite the primary system, according to expense statements filed by candidates with Tyler Page, clerk of the house of representatives. In about 30 states, apparently, it costs nothing, for not a single statement has been filed from them.

The admitted costs range from four cents to $5000. Henry Spaan, an Indiana democrat, wrote a couple of letters hence the four-cent item, while E. W. Rothrock, a Pennsylvania republican, spent the $5000. Other candidates scattered throughout the country, place the cost at 50 cents to a few hundred or thousand dollars.

A PRETTY PERFORMANCE Vitalitas

"As You Like It" Presented
By Rogers Hall Girls—Annual Musicales

With only the natural beauty of the grounds surrounding the school buildings as a setting and a myriad of stars overhead vying with artificial illumination to serve as footlights, young women of Rogers Hall school last evening presented Shakespeare's noted play, "As You Like It," in the school garden.

Seldom has so pretty a background been given a local amateur performance and the fairly large and thoroughly appreciative audience, made up of friends and relatives of the graduates and invited guests, gave frequent expression to its admiration of the beauty of the production.

Plans for the presentation of the play had alternated for the past few days

Buttermilk Cream creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to a radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckles, crown feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream. between staging it in the school gymnasium or out in the garden, so uncertain was the weather and not until within a few hours of the time set for the performance was the decision reached to stage it outdoors.

The young women were perfectly at home in their parts and their picturesque costumes of the 15th century added a pretty touch of color to the already fascinating scene. Some 20 students of the school took part, the cast of characters being as follows:

Duke, living in banishment, Josephine Lougee

Frederick, his brother and usurper of his dominions, Josephine Lougee

Armstrong, Jacques, lord attending on the banished duke, Eleanor Davis

LeBeau, a country attending Frederick, Margaret Fox

Charles, wrestler to Frederick, Jessie MacKenzie

Oliver, Jacques, Orlando, sons of Sir Rowland deBoys, Helen Smith

Rosaline, daughter to Oliver, Frances Dixon

Adam, servant to Oliver, Frances Dixon

Touchstone, a clown, Isabel Farrington

Corin, Sir John, a shepherd, Miss Martha

Helen Robinson, Helen Friend

Andrey, a country wench, Frances Dixon

Rosaline, daughter to the banished duke, Sonja Borg

Celia, daughter to Frederick, Virginia Twiliver

Phoebe, a shepherdess, Frances Taylor

Foresters attending on the banished duke, Helen O'Brien

Helen O'Brien, Faith Harrington

Kathleen Cobb, Eleanor Davis, Marion Douglas, Dorothy Phelps, Eleanor White, Sarah Painter

Pageant, Frances Drogge, Eleanor Rowe

Attendants to Jacques deBoys, Faith Harrington, Helen O'Brien

Ladies at the court, Marion Douglas, Dorothy Phelps, Faith Harrington

Lords at the court, Eleanor Davis, Kathleen Cobb, Eleanor White, Helen O'Brien, Sarah Painter

It would be difficult in such a production to select a few characters for special commendation without doing serious injustice to others. However, Miss Sonja Borg, a Lowell girl, is deserving of unstinted laudation for the professional manner in which she assumed the role of Rosalind, daughter to the banished duke, one of the most important characters created by Shakespeare to carry on the action of the piece.

Miss Josephine Lougee in the dual role of the duke and his brother also bore a large share of the burden of carrying on the plot to its climax. Miss Helen Smith as Orlando, one of the sons of Sir Rowland deBoys, showed marked ability in the love scenes which form frequent episodes in "As You Like It," and Miss Isabel Farrington as Touchstone, the clown, gave to a masculine comedy role a touch of realism that one expects to find only on the professional stage. The other parts were all filled most adequately and the performance went forward without the hitches usually characteristic of amateur productions.

To Mrs. Harry J. Corwin, who coached the young women in their parts and had charge of the staging of the play a large share of credit is due for the success of the performance. It surely met the standards of similar productions given in past years as features of Rogers Hall commencement exercises and those who sat in the open air last evening were liberal in their expressions of commendation both for Mrs. Corwin and the talented young women of the school.

Musicals in Gymnasium

A delightful musicals embracing a program of varied numbers was presented by young women of this school in the gymnasium late yesterday afternoon. Vocal and instrumental selections were given with ability and the presence of a Lowell girl, Miss Martha Sheppard, who played Moszkowski's waltz in E major, gave added interest to the affair. The instructors in music at Rogers Hall, Miss Anne H. Ruggles and George V. Vich, were in charge of the musicals. The program was as follows:

YOU CAN HAVE PINK CHEEKS

What causes the color to fade from pink cheeks and red lips? In a word it is thin blood.

When the fading color in cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

A hundred causes may contribute to the condition of thin blood that is known as anemia. Overwork, lack of out-door exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, these are a few of them. The important thing, is to restore the blood to normal, to build it up so that the color will return to cheeks and lips.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the great blood builder and invigorator. They begin at once to increase the red corpuscles in the blood and the new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. Appetite increases, digestion becomes more perfect, energy and ambition return.

A valuable booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be sent free upon request. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

AT STRAND THEATRE

Lowell Letter Carriers Present

Musical Revue and Concert

The Lowell letter carriers' sick relief association repeated the performance of their musical revue and concert given successfully a short time ago in Associate hall at the Strand theatre last evening. The program as a whole was anything but ordinary, rendered than at its first presentation. The different numbers were given with a zest and enthusiasm that gained the applause of the audience.

A number of old-time entertainers of Lowell audiences took part in the performance. Among these were John P. Roane, Sr., David P. Martin and Chas. A. Carey. Among others who contributed solos were Fred Campbell, John Doyle, Thure Gilman, J. Eugene Mullin and T. J. Finnegan. The letter carriers' quartet, made up of Messrs. Roane, Dwyer, Campbell and Martin, also sang acceptably. Misses Mae Bradley, Sadie Sheehan and Alice Dacey also added interesting features to the program.

James Doyle of Dixon & Doyle, a widely known theatrical team, told some catchy stories and gave an exhibition of fancy dance steps.

One of the hits of the evening was made by Miss Evelyn Whitson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitson. Mr. Whitson is a well known letter carrier. Miss Whitson gave fancy dances and her graceful steps were artistically executed. Her act brought down the house and she was presented with a handsome bouquet of roses.

Timothy J. Finnegan was the inter-locutor of the evening and musical features of the program were under the direction of William L. Howard. Miss Elsie Robbins, the Strand theatre organist, was the accompanist.

Preceding the concert program was a short picture exhibition.

BOYLE AND DOWNES ARE TRAINING HARD

Phineas Boyle, Lowell's aspirant for the New England lightweight title is training hard for his bout with Johnny Downes, of South Boston, to be staged at Spaulding park next Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Crescent A. A.

Boyle was out on the road yesterday morning and after completing a long run arrived at the Y.M.C.A. gym, where he took a rub and then engaged in light boxing. His manager, Jack Leahy, is working hard to have the local black in the best condition of his career. He says that right now Boyle is in pretty fair shape, but that by Friday night he will be in the "pink."

Word came from Boston that Downes is putting in much time on the road and in the gymnasium and that he is confident of making the victorious march of the Lowell boy.

The bout is regarded as one of the most important of the season and the winner will have an undisputed claim to consideration for a titled match with Frankie Britt.

There will be three other bouts, two eight round events and a six round preliminary.

SWIMMING LESSONS FOR SCHOOL BOYS

During the entire day yesterday, from 8:30 to 3:30, the swimming school given by the Y.M.C.A. pool, by Physical Instructor Albert Waterman, and Assistant Instructors Sawyer, Ben and Frank, was in session. The boys were given "skull" practice in the essentials of swimming and in the crawl stroke. The first lesson was given on the crawl stroke and with two more lessons this week the director promises that the 240 boys will know how to swim.

The undertaking of the "Y" is their annual swimming campaign which is managed in co-operation with the public schools as the boys are allowed to take their studies to attend the pool. Those boys who are able to swim but who are unable to visit the pool for reasons are prevented from so doing by the efforts of the schoolmasters and the attention of the instructor, who singles out the swimmers and sends them back to school.

MITCHELL BOYS' MILITARY SCHOOL

Since events are staged for third and fourth year students the annual track and field meet of the Mitchell Boys' Military school, which was held yesterday afternoon on the school grounds in Billerica, drew a large number of spectators. The records of 11 seconds for the 100-yard dash, and of 24.4 seconds for the 220-yard dash, which have been unequalled for nine years, were broken yesterday by William B. Luce of Vineyard Haven, Mass. He lowered the 100-yard dash record to 14.5 seconds and the 220-yard record to 24.5 seconds. As the star of the meet, Luce was awarded the gold medal. Edward E. Chute was awarded the silver medal and Donald F. Whitten of Peabody, the bronze medal.

In the events for boys 12 years or under, William F. Goodlove of New York city won the gold medal and George Wells the silver medal. Henry J. Mason, vice president of the Alumni association of the school, donated the prizes.

U. S. OARSMEN TO SAIL FOR EUROPE

NEWPORT, R. I., June 5.—The score was even when Vanitie and Resolute started today on the third of their official trial races to determine the defender of the America's cup. Resolute's victory on Thursday and Vanitie's win yesterday placed the yachts on even terms and there was no interest on both boats over the outcome of today's race.

Early weather conditions were favorable. There was very little wind and a long ocean roll as a result of last week's storm. The start was set for 11 a. m. and several yachts went out with the racing to watch the event, which was scheduled to last over a windward and leeward course.

TESTIFY MAGEE BET AGAINST OWN TEAM

CINCINNATI, June 5.—A motion for a directed verdict in favor of the defendant was overruled by Judge John W. Packham yesterday at the conclusion of the testimony of Lee Magee, who is suing the Chicago National League Baseball club in the United States district court there for salary during the time he was on the team.

James Castello, Boston billiard hall proprietor, was the star witness for the defense.

Castello testified that Magee came to him on the evening of July 21 and said that he had a proposition for "tossing" the ball game the next day. Magee then was with the Reds, Castello said. "Before Magee left he said that he would see me the next morning with more details. The next morning Magee and Hal Chase, who then was the first baseman for the Reds, visited me. I told them that they would have to bet some of their own money and that the gamblers would not bet unless they did. How much do you want to bet? I asked them. They told me that they did not have any money with them, but that they would give me cheques. I accepted them. If the game was won they were to get even money plus one-third commission on all bets collected. They filled out two of my blank cheques for $500 each. Magee and Chase both said that they had the pitcher fixed. They said the pitcher's name was Schneider. I told them that between them and the pitcher it ought to be soft. The pitcher was changed, though, and when it was sent to the field I saw that the Reds had won. Chase told me that they tried hard and hoped for better luck next time. Chase's cheque went through all right, but Magee stopped payment on his."

Christy Mathewson, who was manager of the Reds in 1915, testified that on July 25 in the first game of the double header between the Reds and Boston, the Reds were in the lead 2 to 1 in the ninth inning, with two out when a Boston batter hit an easy grounder to the shortstop. He said Magee threw the ball over the second baseman's head. Mathewson said that he became suspicious and decided to watch Magee. Boston led the score. In the 13th inning, two of the Reds were out when Magee came to bat. He hit to short, an easy grounder which, however, took an awkward wound, hit the Boston shortstop in the nose and careened into centre. He said that Magee did not obey his signal to step back. Then Chase hit a home run and scored Magee ahead of him. In the Boston half of the 12th Mathewson said that Magee duplicated his earlier error by throwing wild over the second baseman's head on an easy grounder.

On cross-examination it developed that Castello had sought to obtain payment on the cheque by an appeal to President August Herrmann through "Jimmy" White of Boston. He said the boys had made up a pool of about $500 to bet on the Boston-Cincinnati game.

Questioned by Magee's attorney as to the dispositions of certain players taken in the Chase case and submitted to President Heydler, Mathewson admitted that they concerned alleged gambling among certain players.

Testimony of Cincinnati and Boston baseball writers were read to the court. They stated it to be their opinion that Magee did not play his usual game and the errors made by him were not of the ordinary variety.

Joe M. Nolan, sporting editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, testified as to a statement made to him by Magee following publication on February 16, 1920, of the news that Magee had been given his unconditional release by the Chicago club. Nolan testified that Magee had said that if he had to go out of the game others would go with him.

President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn team was the last witness of the day. He testified he did not know of the alleged dishonest playing of Magee at the time Magee was on the Brooklyn team. Magee, himself, was his only friend.

His testimony largely related to his professional career.

His testimony was broken into frequently by arguments of counsel relating to the contract between him and the club and the date on which the 1920 contract became effective.

Hearing of the case was continued today. President Heydler of the National League and President Veech of the Chicago club were among those offering testimony. Depositions of other witnesses at the Cincinnati and other baseball officials also will be presented to the jury.

Lodge Flings Down Gauntlet

States to take a firm hand in things Mexican and end the "disgraceful record" of the last seven years. Senator Lodge urged that this country let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then lend him a real and cordial support.

"Mexico lies at our doors," he declared. "It is a primary duty for us to deal with it under the Monroe doctrine, but nothing has been done and yet we are asked to take a mandate for Armenia."

Salient points made by Senator Lodge were:

"Mr. Wilson and his dynasty, his heirs and assigns, or anybody that is his, anybody who with bent knee has served his purposes, must be driven from all control, from all influence upon the government of the United States."

"They must be driven from office and power, not because they are Democrats, but because Mr. Wilson stands for a theory of administration and government which is not American."

"The return of the democrats to power with Mr. Wilson or one of his disciples still the leader and master of a great party, which before his advent possessed both traditions and principles, would be a long step in the direction of the autocracy for which Mr. Wilson yearns and a heavy blow to the continuance of free representative government as we have always conceived and venerated it."

"Mr. Wilson and the autocracy he represents, and all which those who believe in his doctrines and share his spirit represent, must be put aside and conclusively excluded from any future control."

Must Have Republican President

"The defeat of the present administration and all it means, transcends in importance every other question and all immediate and dominant issues are bound up with it. Without that defeat, every chance of the right settlement of the mighty questions before us, so sorely needed now and not later, will depart."

"To maintain law and order and a stable government where justice rules and the right of all men, high and low, rich and poor, shall be protected, we must have a government of the people, duty chosen by the people, and never must there be permitted any government by a single man or by a group of men, or by an organized minority."

"Many vital economic measures and especially protective tariff legislation to guard our industries, are impossible with a democratic free trader of socialist proclivities in the White House. To accomplish such measures as these, we must have, as we intend to have, a republican president, in sympathy with a republican house and senate."

R.C.L. Most Pressing Problem

"The rise of prices, the high cost of living, which reach daily into every home, is the most pressing, as it is the most difficult and most essential problem which confronts us. Some of the sources of this trouble can be reached by legislation, although not all, but everything that can be effected by law should be done at once."

"Protecting the charging of extortionate and unjustified prices, which is stupid as well as unlawful, are subject now to ample punitive laws. Those laws should be enforced, others if necessary added, and the offenders both great and small should be pursued and punished."

"The most essential remedy for high costs (of living) is to keep up and increase production and particularly should every effort be made to advance the productivity of the farms."

"Government Ownership"

"The phrase 'government ownership' means not only that the government shall own the railroads but also, it is to be feared, that those who run the railroads shall own the government. General government ownership under our political system would inevitably bring about the mastery of the government by those who operate the machinery of transportation or of any other industries which come into government possession. The rights of the general public, for whom all industries exist, would disappear under this scheme and nothing would be left to the people except the duty of paying taxes to support the roads."

600 Americans Murdered in Mexico

"Over 600 Americans have been murdered in Mexico. Carranza insulted the American government in every possible way and still nothing was done. We fell so low that when an American was seized by one of the many bands of brigands and held for ransom, all that the government of the United States would do was to offer to be the channel for conveying the ransom of their citizens to the highwaymen who had seized them."

"We have watched and waited long enough. We need a firm hand at the helm. The time has come to put an end to this Mexican situation, which is a shame to the United States and a disgrace to civilization. If we are to take part in pacifying and helping the world, let us begin here at home in Mexico."

"Let the Mexicans choose, as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then let the United States give him a real and cordial support, and so strengthen and uphold him that he will be able to exterminate the bandits and put an end to the unending civil war."

May Wilson Prevented Peace

"When the armistice with Germany was signed the course to be pursued was clear. That course was to make the peace with Germany at once and then take up for reasonable consideration the question of establishing such future relations with our associates in the war as would make for the future peace of the world. This Mr. Wilson prevented. He went to Europe."

"He had apparently only one aim, to be the maker of a league of which he should be the head. He was determined that there should be a League of Nations then and there and in order to nullify the powers of the senate given by the Constitution of the United States, he decided to make the league an integral part of the treaty of peace with Germany. Thus he presented to the senate, and intended to present, a dilemma from which he believed there was no escape. In order to have peace with Germany, he meant to compel the senate to accept with it the League of Nations."

"The republicans of the senate, perceiving the dangers of the league, determined to resist Mr. Wilson's demand. The American people will never accept that alliance with foreign nations proposed by the president. The president, meantime, has remained inflexible. He is determined to have that treaty as he brought it back or nothing, and to that imperious demand the people will reply in tones which cannot be misunderstood."

Question Goes to People

"We have stopped Mr. Wilson's treaty and the question goes to the people. In 1918 Mr. Wilson won on the cry that he had kept us out of war."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Clayton, the mystic, is the star at B. F. Keith's theatre this week which is the closing one of the present theatrical season. At yesterday's performance his act held the closest attention of the audience, who were captivated by his act in a way to create an air of mysticism. In the background were the majestic outlines of the Taj Mahal, while on either side of the stage were urns of burning incense that sent their pungent fumes through the theatre. Two attendants in oriental dress were present to add to the realism of the picture.

Clayton begins his performance with a talk in which he says much about the occult and uses a number of terms borrowed from the newer sciences of psychology, but in the end reveals little about the methods that he uses in his act. He is a man of mystery, and he writes questions on cards that are distributed among them and that are placed in numbered envelopes. Without apparently touching the envelopes he mysteriously reads the questions contained therein and answers them accordingly to the satisfaction of the questioners. The act is mystifying, interesting and out of the ordinary.

Hekoma presents an equilibrium act that is almost marvellous for the dexterity and ability of the performer. He sings that is displayed. Following Hekoma, Ren and Cavanaugh present a high class act, entitled "Let the Wedding Bells Ring," which there is some excellent dancing.

George F. Howard proves himself a king among banjo manipulators. He both plays and sings with the instruments. At one time he has no less than five of them in his hands or lying about him in the air, and he keeps the music going without interruption. Miss Little Rose, the second member of the team, does some good singing in the "Grand Operatic Revue" that is presented.

The act of "Skeel" Gallagher and Irene Martin has been built around a sweeter knitted for the Red Cross and to the benefit of the Red Cross. The act is presented with the opening lines of the closing chapter of the act is entirely unexpected in its nature.

Moresco Bald of Hennes and Bald in "Songface" brought down the house with his facial expressions. He tells whole stories without a word being spoken. Charles E. Beise, with his silent humor, is a good foil for her. The program of the evening includes pictures, stories of the day and the Kilogram news weekly.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

When Cecil B. de Mille produced that excellent play, "Why Chance Your Wife?" some time ago, it was so immensely popular that it presented a charming manner a subject of intense interest to married folk. Now he has followed it with a sort of companion picture, which presents the other side of the question, namely, "Why Chance Your Wife?" which was shown at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday afternoon with unstinted success.

Mr. de Mille has risen to great heights in his depiction of the wife, who in her overwhelming love for her husband tries him to the degree that he finds place in the companionship of a better divorcee. The wife who foregoes to make a playmate of her husband and who has changed remarkably since their marriage ten years ago, obtains a divorce and she marries the other woman. The story develops that his second wife grows to be just the opposite to what she was when he married her and trouble ensues.

In the meantime the first wife meets her rueful husband and wins back his love. Both have learned the salutary lesson that a wife to be a wife must be a playmate.

Mr. de Mille has done excellent work in this play, the roles of which are interpreted by highly competent players, such as Thomas Meighan, who will be remembered for his delightful portrayal in "The Miracle Man." Gloria Swanson, who is playing the role of the first wife, is exceptionally rich. Some of the scenes are a bit intimate of luxurious social life but rarely reach the offensive stage.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter de Haven in "Seating Cheaters" are presented in a lively comedy, very appropriate to present day conditions and excellently acted by this splendid couple. The International News, a comedy and a thoroughly worthwhile bill. "Why Chance Your Wife?" will run all this week.

Thousands of Lowell People View Brilliant Historical Pageant Staged on Natural Amphitheatre

300 YEARS OF LIFE RE-TOLD

South Common Scene of Grandest Exhibition in History of the City

Lowell's Development From Indian Days Beautifully Portrayed

Presentation Based on Established Facts Attains Unapproachable Success

Lowell's first big pageant was held on the South common last night before 32,000 of the city's people and for two and one-half hours 1200 men, women and children in the guise of persons of local and even national renown stepped from historic pages to faithfully depict scenes and events closely linked with the development of this community from its inception 300 years ago, up to the present day.

Successful beyond imagination, interesting beyond conception and beautiful beyond compare, the pageant was a living monument to the honor of its authors and participants and an accomplishment unparalleled in local theatrical annals, at least.

As far as the eye could carry, in almost every direction, people sat and stood in never-ending masses. Solid banks of humanity blocked in the natural common stage on three sides; covered almost the entire length and breadth of the Summer street slope; stood 12 rows deep on either

PREPARE FOR FOURTH OF JULY

City Fathers Instruct Mayor Thompson to Make Arrangements for Observance

Only $600 Available—Police Department to Have New Automobile

Machinery was set in motion at this morning's regular weekly meeting of the municipal council for this year's observance of the Fourth of July when it was voted on motion of Commissioner James E. Donnelly that Mayor Perry D. Thompson be authorized to make arrangements for the municipal observance of the holiday and to have the purchasing agent obtain a display of fireworks for the South common on the evening of the holiday.

There will also be band concerts in various parts of the city during the afternoon and evening, according to present plans. There is now available an appropriation of $600 for the observance of the day, but last year $1000 was spent for fireworks alone and the band concert expenses came out of the regular band concerts appropriation. An additional appropriation will be necessary if the same program is to be followed out this year, but the council made no move in this direction this morning. The celebration will be held on Monday, July 5, inasmuch as the holiday falls on a Sunday this year.

Mayor Thompson was also authorized to have the purchasing agent buy a new automobile for the police department at a cost not to exceed $2500. The new machine will replace

"We Make Treaty Issue—We Ask Approval for What We Have Done"

The People Will Now Tell Us What They Think of Wilson's League

Bay State Senator Flays Wilson Administration in Key-note Speech

CHICAGO, June 8.—The country must drive President Wilson and his "dynasty" from power and defeat the League of Nations as he desires it, declared Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, temporary chairman of the republican national convention, in his keynote address here today.

Defending the senate's opposition to the treaty of peace as a high and patriotic duty, the senator flung down this gauntlet:
"We make the issue; we ask approval for what we have done. The people will now tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's league and the sacrifice of America."

While emphasizing the point that around the league must be waged the 1920 presidential campaign, and devoting much of his speech to arraignment of the Wilson administration, the senator found time to lay before the delegates the stand of the republican party on other salient problems facing the nation.

THOUSANDS TRY TO ENTER HALL

Only a Fraction of Those Who Applied for Seats Could Be Admitted

CHICAGO, June 8.—Hours before the doors were opened at the big Coliseum today, thousands were waiting and hoping to get in for a look at the unbosomed republican national convention. Only a fraction of those who applied for seats could be admitted, however, despite the hall's capacity of more than 10,000.

Political activities moved out of the hotel district and into the Coliseum itself with the assembling of the first session. It was the first opportunity for the various managers to meet the delegates all together and instead of button-holing them singly and in groups, they went after them in delegations. Today's proceedings in the hall had little to do with the actual

The announcement and presentation of a gift of $1000 to the school building fund from the class of 1920 was one of the happiest features incident to the graduation of that class from Rogers hall school today. Speaking for the graduates, Miss Faith Harrington of Providence, R. I., president of the class, presented the splendid gift to the school, with Miss Olive Sewall Parsons, principal, accepting it for the trustees.

The commencement week festivities, which have not been smiled upon by the weather but which were just as enjoyable as in other years, came to a close shortly after noon with the annual alumnae luncheon attended by a

BIG CONVENTION OPENS AT 11.34

Chairman Hays Was Wildly Greeted as He Called Session to Order

Singing and Playing of Patriotic Airs—Thousands of Flags Waved

Negro Delegates "Shimmy" as Band Swings Into "Dardanella"

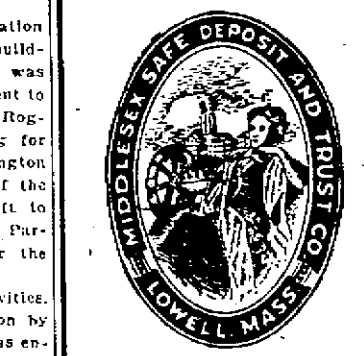

COLISEUM, Chicago, June 8.—The republican national convention was actually called to order at 11.34 a. m. soon after Chairman Hays appeared on the platform and was greeted with rounds of applause and shouts.

Before Chairman Hays mounted the platform a swelling chorus filled the great hall and a sea of American flags were waved throughout the singing. "Now," shouted the leader, "cheers for the greatest country on earth, the United States of America." Three rolling cheers rocked the big hall.

The official photograph of the convention then was taken. The photographer perched in the end of the hall farthest distant from the platform, asked all the delegates to turn that way. There was a flash and a bang and that was over.

Secretary Miller of the national committee then read the call for the convention.

It is true that several score of delegates are instructed either by their district conventions or by state primaries, but nobody, including their own state leaders, knows how long they are going to stand hitched.

The air is choked with reports of delegation conferences at which it has been decided to stand by the favorite son or instructions only on enough ballots to comply with state laws or fulfill the good faith that goes with a

CHILD SAVED BY MOTHER

Gertrude Lamarre, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anselme Lamarre, 29 Main street, South Me., was saved from his by the prompt action of her mother who administered Dr. True's Elixir.

Mrs. Lamarre wrote the following to Dr. J. P. True & Co.: "My daughter, Gertrude, had dizzy spells and could not even go out for she always complained of being sick. She used your Elixir (Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.) She never had any more. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and fully belly, with occasional grimaces and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red spots sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family Laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851—over 65 years' reputation. Everyone can improve their health by simply looking after the bowels—a pure herb, laxative which Dr. True's Elixir is, will promptly relieve all worry and disorders. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

lethargies sharing more than half of the total vote.

The roll call will give, however, the first clear intimation as to what the mass of the more than 500 fancy-free, uninstructed delegates have been thinking as they milled restlessly about the hotel lobbies hour by hour. It will contain information for which all parties to the great dispute have been waiting and letting loose new moves and counter moves about the men who cast the votes.

Hughes and Collidge

It was this situation that gave dark horse talk additional prominence yesterday in the hotel lobbies and with it came an undercurrent from arriving delegations of suggestion that after all, it might be wiser to put forward a candidate whose name had not been involved in the senate inquiry into pre-convention expenditures and activities of presidential aspirants.

Again the name of Charles Evans Hughes recurred in these discussions and Gov. Collidge of Massachusetts also was mentioned. Senator Borah said Judge Hughes would be "formidable" if the convention were compelled to seek a dark horse nominee.

Borah to Fight Treaty

The Idaho senator served notice later at Senator Johnson's great mass meeting which was an outstanding convention eve feature and, incidentally, another departure from precedent, that he proposed to carry his argument against the League of Nations covenant to the floor of the convention itself. Jailed by Senator Johnson as "pioneer" of the senate battle against the covenant, Senator Borah said he did not propose to compromise the treaty issue. Republican and democratic leaders, he said, were leaning toward such action, and Senator Johnson alone of the presidential candidates was not willing to compromise "American independence and sovereignty."

Johnson Makes Plea

The California senator, presenting his case to an audience largely composed of delegates, declared that the "doctrine of humanity and Americanism" he preached was one that he would always preach "without limit or compromise."

There was more talk during the night of the possibility of short cutting convention preliminaries by making the temporary organization with Senator Lodge as chairman, the permanent convention structure. This would save many hours of organization work, it was argued.

One effect of such a short cut would be to assist in getting the tentative platform ready for early approval by the convention. Progress already made, particularly with the treaty plank, was

One effect of such a short cut would be to assist in getting the tentative platform ready for early approval by the convention. Progress already made, particularly with the treaty plank, was said to be highly satisfactory. There still remain points to be worked over and views to be heard, however.

"Dry" and Labor Leaders Active

These include platform proposals of the national board of farm organizations in behalf of agricultural interests, efforts of "dry" forces to supplement their sweeping victory yesterday before the United States supreme court with a party declaration for rigid enforcement of the law thus upheld, and also the appearance before the resolutions committee of Samuel Gompers and a committee from the

Montreal convention of the American Federation of Labor.

The supreme court's decision had no marked effect in convention circles. Leaders seemed to feel relief that the matter was settled and that it was not now necessary to deal with the issue in the platform. Efforts of the "drys" for a party declaration are designed to put a spoke in the wheel of any movement for future legislation to take light wines and beer off the prohibited list.

Hughes and Collidge

Timely contributions aided the won-

men's national party to mobilize 150

"pickets" before the convention opened and threw a cordon of silent, banner-bearing sentries along the front of the Coliseum similar to the patrol before the White House while the suffrage battle was on in Washington. Municipal authorities by direction of Mayor Thompson, had announced that the pickets would not be interfered with.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Gov. Lowden goes into the republican convention undisputed master in his home state

result of his victory last night in the Illinois caucus over Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, but probably will lose the 17 Cook county (Chicago) votes which Thompson controls.

The governor's state went through after one test vote in which his forces defeated those of Thompson, 36 to 23. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman was chosen national committeeman to succeed Thompson and Senator Medill McCormick was named for the convention committee on resolutions which Thompson sought.

MANY GOLDEN PROMISES

Jobs and Purses Lure Delegates and "Professionals" Play Game

(Special to The Sun)
CHICAGO, June 8.—It's really a dear old-fashioned convention—the kind the professional politician dreams he'll go to when he dies.
If not golden streets there are golden promises, and a great flock of candidates with golden purses bulging from their pockets, and a cloud vista of political jobs—jobs for everybody, and everybody's friends and nothing to do but draw the pay.
Like all "good conventions," nobody knows what will happen. It has all the fascination of the bag-bag, the faro-wheel and horse-race. There are chances to pull "a little something," but you can place a bet at good odds. You can get a real "inside tip" maybe. And you can see a real run for your money.
Presidentialism in Control
Like all real old-fashioned conventions, it is entirely in the hands of professionals. The public has not had any chance to mess things up. That notion that there would soon be "popular primaries" at which the voters of the party would decide what candidate they wanted—that fool notion has "gone fluey."

"Take it from me, boy," says the stout party, without shifting his cigar. "There's nothing in that primary stuff—it's just an added expense—leave it to us—the expense is less and the money is better placed."
The idea of selecting presidential candidates by primaries got its knock-out blow in Chicago in 1912 when the famous "steamroller" convention rode down the primary candidate, T. R., and substituted the G.O.P. machine candidate, William Howard Taft. That was a grand and glorious victory for machine politics and today's convention is the fruit of that blossom. Senator Hiram Johnson alone threatens to upset the apple cart.
When, in 1916, the progressives who wanted to come back, came back, they were welcomed to seats in the back row in the gallery. The effort now is to keep them there and get them to toe the line with the old guard.
100 Per Cent. Republican
The same names will figure in the back-room conferences where the deals will be made. There is, to begin with, Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, the master mind of machine politics. Penrose can't attend, but his lieutenants are there to advance his views. He has direct wires to his headquarters from his home in Philadelphia. With the delegates he will control (and this will include a good block from the south), he will have more influence than any other single man.
It might be an exaggeration to say that the real republican convention will be held in the ten-room suite on Cedar street reserved for Penrose and his friends.
Looker! So Many Rooms
Others who were mechanics of the "steam roller" convention in 1912, who will again be in evidence, are W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts—that shrewd millionaire paper manufacturer, who comes as a promoter of the Wood candidacy; his political colleague, Henry Cabot Lodge, senator and author of treaty "reservations"; James A. Heminway of Indiana, a survivor of the Fairbanks machine; Herbert Parsons of New York; Wm. H. Crocker of California, millionaire voice of the San Francisco chamber of commerce; John T. Kink of Connecticut, aide-de-camp to Penrose; Coleman du Pont of Delaware, who has made a few honest dollars in powder—the kind that explodes; A. Tobe Hart of Louisville, Ky., a hard-working and powerful member of the old guard; S. A. Perkins of Tacoma, editor-politician, a graduate of Mark Hanna's political kindergarten; Rud Hynicka of Cincinnati, who knows Ohio politics; Franklin Murphy

HELPLESS WITH RHEUMATISM

Until He Took "Fruit-a-Lives" Or Fruit Liver Tablets

R. R. No. 1, LOAN, ONT.
"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. I treated with doctors and tried nearly everything without benefit.
Finally, I tried 'Fruit-a-Lives'. Before I had used half a box, I saw improvement; the pain was easier and the swelling started to go down.
I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place."
ALEXANDER MUNRO.
50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from FRUIT-A-LIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N. Y. of New Jersey, who has always represented G.O.P. New Jersey; Reed Smoot of the republican wing of the Utah Mormon church—all tried and true and competent to deliver.
They'll Name Candidate
When these political satraps have got together and matched ideas as to candidates and decided what, in their opinion, the voters will "stand for" in the way of a nominee, the choice will be determined.
Whether the lavish spending of money which has marked the pre-convention campaign will cease with the assembling of delegates and "bosses" remains to be seen. Mr. Lowden has denounced the direct purchase of delegates by the use of checks and it is understood that Gen. Wood is planning to take a similar high moral stand. The purchase of southern delegates is a matter of immemorial custom, and the only question about them is "how much" and "will they stay bought?" Other delegates are expected to bow to party discipline and to serve the country patriotically and (except for personal expenses) disinterestedly.
Like all old-fashioned conventions, this one has the interest of uncertainty. It is like watching a table full of gamblers in a big game of poker. The gallery doesn't get anything out of the game, of course, but it is interesting to look on.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barlow

Mrs. Woodchuck Talks
Nancy sat near to one hall-door, Nick beside another and Tingaling, the fairy lander, guarded the front, so that Wally Woodchuck couldn't get out.
I suppose you think that if he had any brains at all he could have sneaked out the back way! Not at all. The Magical Mushroom was playing policeman outside, and Wally, peeping out the kitchen window, saw him, and knew the jig was up.

WALLY, PEEPING OUT THE KITCHEN WINDOW, SAW THE MAGICAL MUSHROOM PLAYING POLICEMAN OUTSIDE.

Mrs. Woodchuck was boiling the water in the parlor, while Wally was supposed to be digging sassafras for the tea, in the kitchen, the roots growing conveniently right through the ceiling. Wally stroked his whiskers as he gazed with a queer smile at the smelly root. Then he got busy at something else.
Mrs. Woodchuck, as I said, was boiling the water in her little copper pot, and talking as fast as she could, while they were waiting for Wally. I suppose she thought that if she talked fast, the time wouldn't seem so long. The odd is one which. It is declared, lovers of high-bred horseflesh never fail to enthuse over. The name of this wonder horse is "Sunrise." He is a stallion, five years old, fifteen and one-half hands high and weighs 1,150 pounds. He was secured in Morocco for the show by Otto Floio, the noted sport writer and authority on horses.

One enthusiast recently wrote of "Sunrise":
"His iridescent body is as shining gold. His beautifully molded neck is full of lines and curves that would delight a sculptor. His milk-white silken tail and mane, his pointed ears, his well-formed face and his proud bearing all proclaim him the king of the stud! But most wonderful of all is this remarkable stallion's eyes. There is something about them that thrills and fascinates. If there are such things as hypnotic eyes among horses, 'Sunrise' has them! One cannot look at them without being affected."
"Sunrise," ridden by one of the comedy and prettily-costumed girls of the circus, will be seen in the parade that, at 10.30 in the morning, will precede the two performances of the big show to be given in this city.
Many surprising things in the way of arenic novelties is promised for the Sells-Floto Circus. In one big display, "The Flight of the Butterflies," a dozen daring young women are presented in the air at one time, all swinging by their teeth, and making a gorgeous picture of graceful movement and gorgeous coloring above the heads of the audience. Three herds of trained elephants are presented by three daring young women, and in one riding number twenty clever equestrians, and equestriennes are simultaneously presented. There are many small animal displays, including remarkably trained ponies, dogs and monkeys. And so it goes—with forty clowns—count 'em—to keep the thrills from being too thrilling and to keep the kiddies from getting too excited by slipping in an occasional bit of irresistible comedy.

IN THE POLICE COURT

Autoists Arraigned — Man
Fined for Assaulting Of-
ficer—Other Cases

Six autoists appeared before Judge Earlight in police court today, charged with violating the glaring headlight law. Chief Redmond Welch summoned the men as a result of his ride on the Princeton and Pawtucket boulevards recently, when he was on the lookout for drivers who did not dim their headlights. Since it was the first offense for all and the men stated that they have been in the habit of dimming their lights, the charges were placed on file.

On May 30 Lieut. Connors arrested Douglas Warrall of Cambridge for failing to slow down and give the necessary signal when driving his auto along Westford street. Warrall pleaded guilty to all charges and assertions of the officer and was fined $5.

Assault on Officer

Hiram P. Heald was charged with obstructing traffic and assaulting an officer. Traffic Officer Frank Maloney testified that the defendant drove a horse and wagon from Middlesex at into Central yesterday afternoon and stopped alongside the curbstone in such a way as to block traffic. The officer said that when he told Heald to drive on the defendant swore at him and clawed his face when he went to get into the wagon to drive it out of the way. Heald was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $30.

Disturbed His Slumber

Peter Czuraka wandered into the police station yesterday afternoon about three o'clock, carefully picked his steps on the stairs leading to the court, entered the ante-rooms opposite the court of second sessions and there settled himself comfortably for a nice, long rest. The dreariness of the day and something stronger than one-half of one per cent soon put Peter to sleep. One of the court officers, passing through the corridor, was attracted by the snores of the man and after a little trouble succeeded in waking him up and bringing him before the booking officer who booked him for drunkenness. Czuraka was plentifully supplied with cash to purchase liquor and said that when he went to the station to buy it and to get a license from Mr. Flaherty, of the license commission, for the sale of such stuff.

Can't Locate Him

Two counts for assault and battery and one for larceny from the person are held against John Morowski, but he cannot be located at present. His case was called about a week ago when Judge Pickman who appeared as counsel for the defendant, asked for a continuance. Morowski was released on surety. The man who stood surety asked for a continuance for one week so that he could produce his man.

FINAL PAPERS FOR CITIZENSHIP ISSUED

The issuing of final papers to applicants for citizenship, begun yesterday, in the superior court, before Judge William H. Bell, was continued this morning.

One of the first batches of prospective citizens, when lined up stretched in a long line around two sides of the bar enclosure. Including witnesses, there were over 30 persons in the line. All of the applicants successfully answered the questions of Chief Examiner Farrell and became citizens by taking the oath in which they renounced allegiance to King George of Great Britain.

During the morning session, Chief Examiner Farrell was called away from the court room and the work of examining applicants was taken in hand by K. C. Small of Waltham, an examiner whose usual field is in Vermont.

NOTRE DAME ALUMNAE
ASSOCIATION PICNIC

The annual picnic of members of the Notre Dame Alumnae association will be held this year on Thursday, June 24, at the grounds of the sisters of Notre Dame in Tyngboro. It was announced today.

Plans are under way to make the 1920 affair more successful and elaborate than ever. Members of the association from all parts of the state will gather for a day's outing and the committee in charge has arranged a very attractive program. Sports, dancing, patriotic hymns, rowing, a personally conducted "hike" through the spacious grounds and benediction at the grove in the afternoon will be among the day's features. A basket luncheon will be enjoyed at noon.

An important business session will also be held in connection with the affair and one of the matters to be decided will be the election of two delegates to the board of management of the organization.

SUPERIOR COURT

Kittredge of Boston, to recover $1000 alleged to be due as commission on the sale of property valued at $25,000 in Middle street, Lowell. A. S. Howard and M. G. WILL RUN CAR TO
JOHNSON'S CORNER

Manager Thomas Lees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, is planning to run an extra car night and morning between Johnson's corner and the square, for the benefit of the campers beyond Lakeview. The car in the morning will leave the corner about 7:30 o'clock for the city, and at night a car will leave the square at 6 o'clock. At the present time, the company does not send cars out as far as Johnson's corner.

Although there are at present no more one-man cars ready for service in this city, work at the Middlesex street barn continues along the line of equipping and assembling them for other cities of the division. Manager Lees stated that before the company is through with the distribution of them, this city will have at least 25 in service. A repair gang on High street and one on Bridge street are re-equipment the tracks in several places preparatory to the use of the one-man cars on those lines. The tracks must be in much better condition for the new style cars.

For the past few weeks, Manager Lees has been spending his mornings in this city and his afternoons in Lawrence, as director of the two divisions. By the end of this week, however, it is expected that Manager Lees of Lawrence, who has been ill for some time, will resume the management there.

DISCUSS NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Some idea of just how much progress is being made on the erection of Lowell's new high school addition in Kirk street will be available at city hall this evening when the school committee will meet members of the high school building commission to discuss various features connected with the new building.

The conference will be called at 8 o'clock and, according to Chairman Thomas B. Delaney, will be open to the public.

Late this afternoon members of the school committee held a conference at city hall relative to plans for the renovation of the present Vocational school in Broadway to serve until such time as the Public street annex is available for vocational school purposes. It is expected that a committee of the school board will meet members of the city council at an early meeting to ask for financial support for the plan.

DOINGS OF THE DAY

IN PROBATE COURT

In the probate court before Judge John C. Toggat today the following matters were acted upon:

MEXICAN REVOLUTION TROUBLES FROM MY AGE

Oregon's Chief Lieutenant
Fled by Hiding in Pile of
Sacks in Milk Wagon

MEXICO CITY—One of the exciting incidents preceding the revolt against President Carranza was the escape of General Benjamin Hill, chief lieutenant of General Alvaro Obregon, who fled from the capital hidden in a pile of sacks in a milk wagon.

General Hill vanished from the capital on the same night as did General Obregon, April 13. The wagon in which Hill was hidden was stopped by the police in the suburbs of the capital because it did not carry a light. While the driver was bribing the policeman to pass the lightless vehicle, General Hill dropped out of the back of the wagon and hid in the shadow of a building until the policeman was mollified.

Then the general crawled back into the wagon and continued his flight.

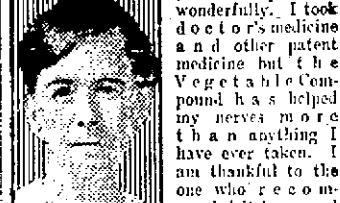

Mystery surrounding the fate of Benito Cejudo, to testify in whose trial General Obregon was summoned to the capital, furnished one of the tragic highlights of the Carranza evacuation. With General Arnulfo Gonzalez, captured by Carranza government agents near Nuevo Laredo on April 20, and the aged rebel General Gaudencio de la Llave, Cejudo was taken from the military prison of Santiago Tlatelco here the night of May 6 when the Carranza adherents fled. Whether he was taken on the Carranza trains the next day and escaped, or whether he was executed, together with the two others, remains a mystery. None of them has been located although several other generals, arrested prior to the evacuation, have returned to Mexico City.

Cejudo was arrested, with his staff and 150 followers, at Jalapa, V. C., on March 28, after he had surrendered, received amnesty, been given the rank

Mrs. Baney tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her Through the Change of Middle Life.

Rochester, Ind.—"My troubles were from my age and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully. I took doctor's medicine and other patent medicine but the Vegetable Compound has helped my nerves more than anything I have ever taken. I am thankful to the one who recommended it to me and will surely do my part in telling others what the medicine has done for me."

—Mrs. LITTLE BANEY, 463 East 9th St., Rochester, Indiana.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness should be heeded by middle-aged women and let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carry them safely through this crisis as it did Mrs. Baney.

of general in the Mexican army and placed in command of a district near Jalapa, where previously he had led a revolt against the Carranza government for six years. He was charged with surrendering merely to secure arms and munitions with which to aid Felix Diaz.

The Carranza government charged that he had offered to aid Obregon but Obregon, in an interview given the Associated Press, branded the Cejudo charges as a scheme to bring him to Mexico City, involve him in charges of treason and block his campaign for the presidency.

The progress of Ygnacio Bonillas, formerly Mexican ambassador to the United States and Carranza's candidate for the presidency, from the Mexican embassy in Washington to a camp in the jungles of Vera Cruz and back to a prison in Mexico City was marked by stirring episodes. He is reported here to have figured in a shooting affray which occurred on March 25 near Tlalpam, a suburb of Mexico City, which the papers supporting his candidacy intimated was an attempt to kidnap him.

The special train carrying him to Guadalajara was stopped near the city by a missing rail. He reached Guadalajara safely but the incident was the basis for numerous alarming reports. Then came his flight from Mexico City with Carranza, starting May 7 and ending in a dash from the beleaguered trains on May 14.

His good fortune saved him from death when Carranza was slain in the camp at Tlaxcalantongo and he was brought here to be imprisoned until the provisional president decided his fate.

When Captain Felipe Sanchez Carranza was captured near Texcoco, a suburb of Mexico City, after he had been injured while making a record landing in his big bombing plane, he shot himself. Captain Sanchez was a nephew of President Carranza. He attempted to reach Vera Cruz via the air route when Mexico City was evacuated on May 7.

ARTIFICIAL ICE IN MAINE
GARDINER, Me., June 7.—Artificial ice has replaced Maine ice in the large city markets. With the decision of the American Ice Company to demolish all its icehouses along the Kennebec river and at Boothbay, landmarks of what was once one of Maine's principal industries, are disappearing.

In 1897 there were 55 large icehouses on the river. Of these 15 had been burned, nine torn down and several blown over. Control of the Kennebec ice industry was obtained by the American Ice Company in 1891 and for several years ice was harvested to the capacity of the houses. Little or nothing has been done the past 20 years.

HOME GARDEN OUTLOOK

VERY POOR HERE

Officials of the local chamber of commerce freely admit a serious doubt in their own minds and even an out and out failure to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion relative to what the organization ought to do to further the development of home gardens in Lowell.

A week or so ago, H. A. Jenks of Waltham, county agent for the state board of agriculture expressed a willingness to come to this city to discuss the matter and also that of a public market. At that time, however, he desired to postpone his visit until the state legislature had definitely settled the fate of the so-called public market bill, making it optional with a city or town to establish such a market upon the petition of 2 per cent. of its registered voting strength. The legislature long before took the teeth out of the bill when the word "may" was inserted before "shall," rather than the obligatory "shall," as the act was originally worded.

Now the measure has been passed, but as yet nothing has been heard from Agent Jenks, although he assured the local chamber that he would visit Lowell as soon as this law was passed or turned down.

Already the chamber, through its board of directors, has gone on record as favoring and endorsing an extensive home garden development, but for the present its efforts do not know exactly what else can be done. It is thought that the season has advanced too far to warrant the establishment of a farm bureau and no other alternative has come to mind. Suggestions will be gladly welcomed and whatever the chamber possibly can do, it will be only too glad to consider.

It is possible that word will be received from Mr. Jenks almost any day and that some action will be forthcoming as a result.

Thousands Try to Enter Hall

True, the preliminaries include the keynote speech by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, and that is the really big business of the first day. Whether the temporary organization with Senator Lodge as chairman is to be made the permanent one, was still undetermined today.

While last minute arrangements were being made, no change in the line-up was discernible and the various managers frankly admitted they saw no tangible evidences of which way the wind is going to blow. They were still looking forward to the first ballots which will come during the middle of the week, to develop to point the way to courses of action.

The convention actually opened its first session at 11.31 o'clock. Chicago time.

Hall Fills Rapidly

Forty minutes before the convention was due to open, the band struck up and the delegations began getting into position. The hall was filling rapidly, and many of the notables were arriving. There was a remarkable absence of confusion. The old timers said it looked almost as tame as four years ago.

Blistering Hot Sun

The delegates and onlookers today faced a blistering hot sun and it was uncomfortably warm in the morning hours. The weather experts had predicted "generally fair, and not much change in temperature," but the crowds could not take that view.

There was an early start toward the Coliseum, many of the late night stragglers being a bit weary, with a long sleep ahead.

Scissors Sell Tickets

Around the hotels a few barkers offered tickets to the convention at fabulous prices with few buyers. The crowd was wise, knowing that today's session would supply no excitement.

The candidates were up and down, early. Campaign managers were on the job, taking stock, and hoping to find out if there had been any overnight changes in the lineup. In the rush to get to the Coliseum, nobody paid much attention to the morning conferences with candidates and there was evidence that this method of obtaining publicity was wearing itself out, for some of the leading aspirants sent down word yesterday that there was nothing to say.

Everybody "Up in the Air"

Everybody was still up in the air as to who would win the nomination, and from all sides there was a volley of inquiries as to when the job might be finished. Also for many the weather was of more vital interest than the nomination.

Less than a dozen state delegations had failed to hold a caucus, but with the exception of Georgia and possibly one or two others, there was no light ahead and little interest was displayed.

Old Days Not So Bad After All

The main idea was to get to the convention hall, to see the breakaway and hope thereby to get the right slant on the possible outcome. There was a lot of talk about the Johnson mass meeting and the declaration by Senator Borah that he would transfer the long Senate treaty fight to the floor.

But in the general groping, the doubt, confusion, mess and muddle, all of the delegates except those fighting inch by inch for their favorite candidate, seemed to agree that the old days when leaders showed them the way, were not so bad after all.

Johnson, an Atlanta negro who led the fight of the Lowden delegates before the republican national committee, was today elected national committeeman from Georgia by the state delegation.

The Wood delegates, headed by Roscoe Pickett, the defeated candidate for national committeeman, announced that they would carry their fight to the credentials committee of the convention. Johnson, at the hearings, had told the national committee he would forego his hopes of being national committeeman if the Lowden delegates were seated.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10.07 with all members present.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for a pole location in Dalton street. A representative of the Walter L. Parker Co. protested. Referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

Similar action was taken on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for one pole in Jewett street.

A hearing was held on the petition of Newell A. Hoyt for a gasoline license at 33 Shaw street. Elmer E. Fisch, Katherine Burns and J. E. Field objected on behalf of the residents of the street. The matter was referred to Commissioner Salmon.

After hearings the following petitions were referred to Commissioner Salmon: William P. White, gasoline, 52 Mansur street, and Robert W. Duff, gasoline, 89 Viola street.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petition of Fortunat Heuroux for edgstones at 4 Bowers street and the accompanying order was adopted.

The council adopted an order to lay sidewalks on portions of both sides of Fletcher street.

Dr. T. Laurin entered a claim for alleged damage to his automobile and the matter was referred to the law department.

Petitions were received from the Boston Auto Supply Co. and the Lowell News Co., that Brookings street and a portion of French street be accepted. Referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The petition of Jeremiah Bailey, et al. for a sewer in Berkeley avenue was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

The following petitions were referred for hearings June 22:

E. W. Douglas, gasoline, Sanders avenue; P. W. Holmes, garage and gasoline, Chelmsford street; Standard Oil Co., petroleum, Main street.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation for two poles in Varnum avenue was referred for a hearing June 22.

The Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. was granted permission to erect three poles in Middlesex street near the crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad.

On recommendation of Commissioner Murphy a sewer assessment of $31.35 against the property of Mary B. Leach in Richards street was abated.

Commissioner Murphy explained that a private sewer had been laid at the property in question and later the city built a sewer. It was agreed by all parties concerned that in view of the circumstances an abatement of half the assessment would be agreeable.

A partial abatement of the sewer assessment against the property of John J. Maherty in Wyman street was also voted after an explanation by Commissioner Murphy.

The order to change the northerly line of Westminster street and to lay a sidewalk was introduced by Commissioner Murphy and passed without dissent.

Commissioner Murphy's order to lay a sidewalk in front of premises at 34 Sanders avenue, was referred to the city clerk's office for seven days.

Commissioner Salmon reported favorably on the following petitions, and the licenses were granted: W. L. Henzel, garage and gasoline, 343 Wilder street; A. O. Knapp, garage and gasoline, 302-4 Wilder street; L. H. Hoves, garage and gasoline, Chelmsford and Powell streets; James E. Rudolph, garage and gasoline, 14 E street; Margaret G. Morris, garage, 407 High street.

At the request of Commissioner Salmon a vote was passed transferring $55 from the general treasury fund to the credit of the fire department. It was explained that the Boston & Maine R.R. had paid this amount for hose, which it damaged but that the money had never been credited to the fire department.

A communication from the city solicitor relative to the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to lay underground conduits in West Adams, Wilder and Marginal streets, said that the city engineer had disapproved the petition and believed that an alternate location could be used. Accordingly, the solicitor recommended that the petition be given leave to withdraw "without prejudice" and that they be given the right to file another petition to have the conduits laid in Middlesex street. The recommendations were carried out by the council.

A similar petition from the same corporation for conduits in Charles and Lawrence streets was approved by the city engineer and the city solicitor recommended that it be referred to the inspector of wires before action were taken. It was so voted.

The mayor was empowered to execute a release feeing the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. from further liability in connection with damage to one of the trucks of the water department upon the payment of $54.50 by said company.

A contract between the purchasing agent and Anthony Filatis for a supply of crushed stone for the street department for the present season at $2 per ton, was approved.

City Solicitor William D. Regan reported progress carrying out the instructions of the council to prepare the necessary orders for taking land in Cochran and Riverside streets for improvement purposes, but inasmuch as the titles had not yet been examined, the orders were not ready.

The city solicitor also reported that he had re-investigated the claim of Joseph W. Sugdin, at the request of the council, but could not find any liability on the part of the city. Accordingly, he again recommended leave to withdraw and it was so voted.

Mayor Thompson reported for a committee composed of Commissioner

General Wood, in casting about for an excuse for the use of the millions that were expended in his behalf to pave his way to the presidency, blames it all on the primary systems that the people have been foolish enough to adopt. But people with memories are aware that there were Mark Hannas and big slush funds in the days before primaries had begun to cut much of a figure in American politics. General Wood was only following the established custom.

Former Senator Weeks says he has been looking for the Old Guard of republicanism and cannot find it. This is unfortunate since the former senator was once something more than a high private in the organization that neither dies nor surrenders. Perhaps, if he will consult his colleagues of "the big four" delegation from Massachusetts—Messrs. Henry Cabot Lodge and Winthrop Murray Crane—they will be able to steer him back to his place in the ranks.

Lowden refuses to accept the votes of the two delegates from Missouri to whom checks for $2500 were sent by his campaign manager, which they say they did not want and would not accept, yet did not return. Why—because they were too honest to be bribed, because they got found out, or because he thinks he will improve his chances of securing the nomination by refusing to make use of the goods that he has bought and paid for?

Certain republican leaders, who professed to be much worried by the remote possibility that American soldiers might be slaughtered some day on battlefields in Armenia or Turkistan, seem not to be disturbed at all in making plans which will require the sacrifice of many lives in Mexico to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the big "oil interests" owning wells in that country.

PROHIBITION UPHELD

The decision of the United States supreme court sustaining the 18th amendment and the Volstead enforcement act settles the various questions of constitutionality raised against the amendment itself as well as against the Volstead enforcement act.

The court has given out merely its conclusions without entering at length into the reasons on which those conclusions are based; but it is presumed that the findings of the court are legally sound. In effect they declare that having adopted a prohibition amendment, we must live up to it so long as it remains a part of our constitution. The same is true of the Volstead act which prohibits the sale or manufacture, except for medicinal purposes, of any beverage containing more than one half of one per cent alcohol.

It had been supposed that the individual states might have the right to say what is intoxicating and what is not, but the definition of congress on this point is binding on the various states. Hence it appears that if there is to be any more liberal standard of what is intoxicating than that embodied in the Volstead act, congress alone can give it effect. That seems to be the only elastic point left on which the "wets" can hang a hope escaping a home dry condition.

This decision removes the prohibition question from controversy and makes it as firmly grounded in law as any other part of our constitution. No longer can it be an issue in politics, unless somebody would advocate its repeal which at this stage is not at all probable. Prohibition, therefore, is now the law of the land, beyond cavil on any technical question of validity.

DR. BUTLER'S IDEALISM

Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, president of Columbia college, has given out an interview at Chicago which may convince some people that he is in the running. He volunteers some new information relative to the history of Article X of the treaty of peace. He claims the original plan was devised and given to President Wilson who submitted it to the committee on foreign relations as a substitute for the Monroe Doctrine. The committee promptly rejected the plan and nothing more was heard of it until it came to the front in the League of Nations covenant.

Dr. Butler gave out a plan of his own for preserving world peace, under which the whole world would be divided into three great divisions or zones, the people of each to be held responsible for the maintenance of peace therein, so far as questions affecting their "primary interests" were concerned. This would require the use of force same as the application of Article X of the covenant. In Butler's plan there would be three bodies instead of one and in time they themselves would get involved in strife and engage in another world war. It might be waged by Europe and America against Asia or Europe and Asia against America.

We certainly want none of that arrangement although Dr. Butler's stand in favor of an international court of justice will meet very general approval. Somehow, the people of the country are not likely soon again to take up a college president for president of the United States. It is all very well to talk of the "scholar in politics," but at present the country wants a practical man rather than a scholar or an idealist to guide its destinies for the next four years.

THE BUDGET BILL

There is cause for regret in the fact that President Wilson found it necessary to veto the bill passed by congress providing for a national budget. The veto was necessary because of a provision contained in the bill which would have limited the implied constitutional powers of the president to remove inefficient and incapable officials from office. Mr. Wilson is careful to say in his veto message that he is in entire sympathy with the main purpose of the bill to establish a national budget as indeed must every good citizen be who has any knowledge of the government's financial methods as they now exist.

At present, appropriations are made almost wholly upon recommendations of various committees of congress, none of which has any very clear and comprehensive knowledge of the needs of the government as a whole, and quite often with utter disregard of the requirements of departments other than the ones with which the particular committees are concerned.

Representatives of the different departments are obliged to run about from committee to committee presenting estimates and giving reasons why appropriations should be made. In the end an appropriation bill may be presented to the house of representatives full of mistakes and blunders because it is a piece of patchwork made without unity of purpose or design. Its errors have to be later corrected by a deficiency appropriation bill that is made in much the same helter-skelter fashion as the original act. A national budget system would remedy all this.

PLATFORM OF INDUSTRY

The platform of American industry issued by the National Association of Manufacturers has many excellent suggestions for adoption by the political parties and very little to which any party can reasonably object. It is obvious from this declaration of principles by the manufacturers that they are striving for conditions under which industry will be free to carry on their legitimate business without unnecessary restrictions, without excessive taxation and without imposition by labor combinations. Specifically, the platform favors some relief from the provisions of the Sherman act yet fully protecting the interests of the public, a revision of the taxation system, to apply the law equally against all classes without favor or discrimination. By this provision is meant the necessity of providing for the open shop, and protecting business people who do not want the closed shop from having it forced upon them. Relative to the strike or lockout the manufacturers hold that neither should be allowed to impose hardship on the public. The doctrine of the treaty of peace. He claims the original plan was devised and given to President Wilson who submitted it to the committee on foreign relations as a substitute for the Monroe Doctrine. The committee promptly rejected the plan and nothing more was heard of it until

The platform favors a budget system to promote economy and the refunding of our war indebtedness into long term securities and the postponement of sinking fund payments until industry has an opportunity to recover from the strain of war conditions—all of which is good advice.

On the question of transportation, this platform favors private ownership with permissive consolidation of existing systems under conditions which will promote economy and efficiency while maintaining rivalry in service.

On immigration, foreign trade, the merchant marine and war bonus, some good recommendations are made.

Altogether the platform shows that the manufacturers are ready to make any important advances toward meeting the demands of labor in order to secure industrial peace, but unfortunately there is no mention of collective bargaining, co-operative management or the adoption of any system of deciding upon a fair rate of wages in any industry.

THE CHICAGO BATTLE

Not for many years has a republican national convention opened with such a total lack of crystallization on either issues or candidates as in the present case.

The biggest leaders are almost as much at sea as to what is likely to develop as are the various state delegations which shout for candidates to whom they are pledged for the first few ballots.

Beyond the lining up of the strength of candidates who lavished large sums of money on primary contests, the first few ballots will be of little importance. It is when the instructed delegations break to dark horses that the fun begins.

There will be hot contests, no doubt, between candidates representing rival interests and rival sections of the country. Just how far these fights will go, it is impossible to predict, but they may develop pandemonium rather than harmony.

Should the Johnson forces find themselves beaten, they will be the leaders in causing trouble, if only for the sake of revenge. In that case, Johnson might run on an independent ticket. On the other hand, should Johnson be nominated, there may be enough advocates of the League of Nations willing to sacrifice the party chances of victory by running Hoover on an independent ticket.

It has been claimed that the democratic party, on account of the defection against President Wilson's leadership, will have but a slight chance of victory in November; but that all depends upon how things are handled at Chicago.

If the convention splits either on candidates or on platform, then a democratic victory would be reasonably certain, unless indeed the democrats should make a worse mess of things than did the republicans.

Although Chairman Hays of the republican national committee has been combing the country for ideas for the party platform, there is as yet no definite policy in mind on the more vital issues of the hour.

President Wilson threw a great bone of contention into the republican camp when he made the League of Nations a political issue. With that out of the way, the republicans might be able to agree on the other questions pressing for settlement; but as yet there is no indication of unanimity on the most general principles with which a national platform at this time would be expected to deal.

All that is known definitely by way of preliminary data is that Wood has 125 delegates pledged to his support, Johnson 112, and six other candidates numbers ranging from 76 for Spruill to 14 for Poindest. On the great platform issues, it is known that a special committee has been assiduously working to produce something which would clarify the country, but so far as can be learned, it has thus far failed to accomplish the end in view.

There are many explosive elements in the Chicago convention which only wise management can keep from wrecking the whole political machine. Whether the leaders will be able to avert the danger is a matter of sheer conjecture even with men who are now taking a prominent part in the proceedings. Usually the republicans have been able to reconcile matters of the most divergent types, but since 1912, it seems that they have lost their capacity for harmonizing differences to an extent that threatens their future if not their total extinction as a party.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

good effect with some people, for yesterday a man who has been living in this city several years, but who like many others has delayed in taking out his naturalization papers, told me that he was refused a license at city hall on the ground that he was not a naturalized citizen. "I have my second papers," he said, and am now waiting for my final, and until I am a full-fledged citizen I cannot enjoy my favorite sport. This man is very anxious to take the oath of allegiance so that he may be able to try his luck with the red and line and there are many others. A fishing license only costs 50 cents a year, but in order to secure one a man must be a citizen of the United States or the owner of property.

Those who happened to be present at the conference of representatives of the Municipal Employees' union and the municipal council at city hall Monday morning and who had not been previously familiar with conditions among employees of the street department were no doubt struck by the statement of Timothy D. Finnegan, president of the union, that although city laborers have the name of getting $1.50 per day, in reality they don't average more than $2.00 a week because of reductions caused by rainy weather. Mr. Finnegan said that in the past five or six months the street department men have had only three or four full weeks and that one week his pay amounted to but $14.68. Last week the street department men lost two days Monday, a holiday, and Saturday, a stormy day. However, when Mayor Thompson asked the men if they would be satisfied with their present scale of wages if it were operative in both fair and stormy weather, the union officials said that they preferred a flat increase.

The number of Monday afternoon telephone calls which the girls in the local exchange have been called upon to handle for the past month or six weeks will be considerably reduced from now on as a result of the decision of the supreme court yesterday that prohibition is constitutional. Why? Well, if you recall, the supreme court has been expected to make the momentous decision Monday after Monday for the past few weeks but the decision failed to come until yesterday. But a large number of Lowell people, vitally interested, evidently, in the court's decision, have called up the newspaper offices every Monday afternoon asking about the decision. Time and time again the disappointing answer, "No decision," has had to be given, but yesterday the spell was broken and the information that prohibition had been declared constitutional was available. No longer will anxious inquirers be kept in dire suspense.

I saw one of the most remarkable automobiles in Massachusetts on Sunday. In fact, the most unusual from the standpoint of registration, for it bore No. 1. We are so accustomed to seeing registration plates bearing four, five and six figures that a number of three figures or less attracts considerable attention. We have recollection of at least one Lowell car—and possibly there are several others—which has a number of three figures, but recall none smaller. When Sunday's No. 1 drove into sight we did what everyone along the way did—stopped, pointed and said, "Look, there's No. 1—doesn't it look funny?" Of course, there was nothing funny about it—someone, to be sure, must have No. 1—but somehow or other, it produced quite a shock. We later found out that it came from down Buzzard's Bay way and also met the driver and found him normal in every particular, despite the fact that he displayed the most unusual car number in the commonwealth.

The Man About Town was one of those who witnessed the wonderfully beautiful pageant given on the South common yesterday afternoon and he caught sight of a few incidents not likely to be told about in the regular accounts of the event printed in the newspapers. Circulating among the vast crowd it was interesting to note the unusually small number of very young children present. In keeping their babies at home, the mothers showed good judgment. Thus they saved the little ones from danger and the crowd from annoyance. The dance by candlelight was very pretty as a feature of the spectacle, but those who took part in the dance had their own troubles in handling the candles. It is not the easiest thing in the world to light a candle in the open air, and anyone who has tried to make it stand upright without a candlestick, after it has been lighted, is aware that the feat is rather difficult of accomplishment unless it is done about in the right way. The young men and women were sorely troubled to make their candles remain upright and burning when they left them on the ground. Some tried to solve the problem by digging small holes to serve as candlesticks, others finally gave up in despair and let the lighted tapers lie flat on the ground. The wise ones, though, smeared the turf with the heated paraffine and then stuck the ends of their candles into it. Then there was the little episode of one of the leading dancers who went bravely on dancing after having injured her foot against a stake in the ground. The tipping of a cance on the point, dumped one of the occupants into the water and offered an opportunity for a quick rescue followed by a general laugh.

PARK BOARD MEETING

New Bath House Life Guards and Playground Supervisors Appointed

Louis J. Turner, Daniel P. Brennan and James P. Linton were appointed life guards for the new municipal bath house off Pawtucket boulevard, at a meeting of the park commission held last evening. The three men are all veterans of the world war. Mr. Ellen A. McEvoy was chosen cashier and Mrs. Rose Cox an attendant at the bath house.

John Lawrence, D. Murray Cummings and Patrick Mullins were elected playground supervisors for the coming season.

The commission also discussed the supply of towels and laundering of towels and bathing suits in connection with the opening of the bath house and the superintendent was authorized to deal with the lowest bidder in each instance.

The C. I. Hood Co. was awarded the contract to print the annual report of the department at $1.50 a page, this firm being the lowest bidder.

The commission voted to remove one of the large trees in Moody street, opposite the city library, at the expense of C. H. Merrill, who had petitioned for the removal of two trees in that locality. The second tree will not be removed.

"Well," continued his friend, "he insured 500 cigars, smoked them, and then sent in a claim on the ground that they had been destroyed by fire."

"And, of course, he got laughed at?"

"Not a bit of it. The company has had him arrested on a charge of arson."

How England Grows

A great deal of interest is taken in England in the question of coast protection. The ocean, assailing the cliffs, gradually tears them away, but this very process furnishes a defence for the land by building up long beaches of sand and shingle which arrest the waves before they can attack the cliffs. An effort is making to prevent, or better regulate the removal of this material for construction and road building, because in many places its removal has permitted the sea freely to exert its power of erosion.

In Memoriam

With the supreme court's decision "fresh from the press" it is very evident that Senator Wellington Wells of Boston knew what he was doing when he staged his little skit, "John Barleycorn, Requisite in Pace" in the senate last Wednesday.

With funeral demeanor and solemn tones the Boston senator moved to take from the table, where it has slumbered since May 13 the last "booze" bill remaining for the consideration of the present legislature. It was based upon a petition of Francis J. Finerman, president of the Democratic club of Massachusetts, and would permit the sale of any wine or beer which has not been subjected to artificial fermentation. The committee on legal affairs had made an adverse report on it, and it had been laid upon the table in the hope that the United States supreme court might render, before the end of the present legislative session, a decision which would permit the legislature to consider the bill.

Senator Wells announced that all hope for such a decision had now vanished, and for that reason he thought it appropriate that the bill should be transferred from the table to his bier. Before committing it to the tender mercies of his colleagues, however, he said he felt the occasion required something in the way of a word of final parting, and he thereupon recited the following original poem, with apologies to Elizabeth Elvers Allen:

Backward, turn backward,
O Time, in thy flight;
Make me a cocktail
Just before I die tonight.
Put in a cherry
Shake up the gin,
I want to get warm again
Tired of the sober
Hand out the millions,
Sing foolish songs,
Weep on the bier.
Tight the world's wrongs,
Backward, turn backward,
And give me one taste,
For all my experience
Is going to waste.

Pardon came too late
The convict sat behind the bars
Four thousand miles from home:
In old Kentucky he was born.
His prison was in Rome.
He had purloined an equine horse,
A shaggy, northern breed,
And had to hang because on there
That is a heinous deed.

In desperation he had wrote
To Washington, D. C.,
In manner most heartrending
He'd asked for clemency.

A high official read the note
And shed a brave tear:
"They can't hang him for that," he said.

"It isn't right, oh dear!"
He wrote a pardon right away
To save the man in jail—
And gave it to a blond stenog
To drop into the mail.

Just two months later, to a day,
The poor fellow stretched the rope;
He was courageous to the last.
His heart buoyed up by hope.

The pardon came the following spring,
Alas, it was too late.
For Mister Barlow had sent
The blooming thing by freight.

Increase in Crime in Detroit

DETROIT, June 8.—Reaction from the war and present day criminal procedure was held responsible for the recent increase in crime by August Vollmer of the department of criminology of the University of California, who addressed the convention of the International Chiefs' association here today. The effects of the war upon crime, professor Vollmer said, would be noted in all countries for at least 10 years.

RAIDS FOLLOW "DRY" DECISION

Enforcement Agents "Celebrated" Ruling By Swooping Down on Steamers

Liquor in Barrels Labeled "Pickled Tripe" Seized—Text of Decision

NEW YORK, June 8.—Federal agents will redouble their efforts to make New York home dry, James Shevlin, supervising prohibition enforcement agent announced yesterday, when he learned that the United States supreme court had declared both the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act constitutional.

Federal agents have arrested 50 alleged violators of the dry law in the last few days, Mr. Shevlin said, and even before that arrests were made at the rate of a dozen a day. He estimated that 75 per cent. of the saloons masquerading as soft drink establishments now will close, as he said they have been holding on with the bare hope that enforced abridgment would be found illegal.

Closing of these saloons will make the task of enforcement agents easier, according to Mr. Shevlin, and in this, United States Marshal Power of Brooklyn agreed.

Mr. Shevlin said he did not content himself with the staff, but if this should be found necessary he had 500 applications on hand and more coming in daily.

Enforcement agents "celebrated" yesterday's United States supreme court decision by swooping down on three steamships in Brooklyn and confiscating hundreds of bottles of whisky. This liquor was found in barrels labeled "pickled tripe," "pickled pigs' feet" and "corned beef," behind bulkheads and in linen lockers, water tanks, galleys and coal bunkers.

Yesterday's decision was misinterpreted in some quarters—for no particular reason—and impromptu celebrations were started at which it was reported liquors stronger than 275 flowed freely. When the truth, however, filtered into these quarters, gloom followed and the celebrations were transformed into "wakes."

In Wall street, too, interest yesterday centered on the Washington decision, but they produced no great effect on the market except in the case of United States Industrial Alcohol company and United States Food Products company shares, directly affected by the decisions. These stocks slumped slightly.

Text of Decision

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The full text of the supreme court decision upholding the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act follows:

"1.—The adoption by both houses of congress each by a two-thirds vote, of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution sufficiently shows that the proposal was deemed necessary by all who voted for it. An express declaration that they regarded it as necessary is not essential. None of the resolutions whereby prior amendments were proposed contained such a declaration.

"2.—The two-thirds vote in each house which is required in proposing an amendment is a vote of two-thirds of the members present—assuming the presence of a quorum—and not a vote of two-thirds of the entire membership present and absent. (Missouri Pacific Railway Co. vs. Kansas, 215, U. S. 276.)

"3.—The referendum provisions of state constitutions and statutes cannot be applied consistently with the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act.

"4.—The prohibition of the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, as embodied in the 18th amendment, is within the power to amend reserved by article V. of the constitution.

"5.—That amendment by lawful proposal and ratification has become a part of the constitution and must be respected and given effect the same as other provisions of that instrument.

"6.—The first section of the amendment—the one embodying the prohibition—is operative throughout the entire territorial limits of the United States, binds all legislative bodies, courts, public officers and individuals within those limits and of its own force invalidates any legislative act—whether by congress, by a state legislature or by a territorial assembly—which authorizes or sanctions what the section prohibits.

"7.—The second section of the amendment—the one declaring 'the congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation'—does not enable congress or the several states to defeat or thwart the prohibition, but only to enforce it by appropriate means.

"8.—The words, 'concurrent power' in that section do not mean joint power or require that legislation thereunder by congress, to be effective, shall be approved or sanctioned by the several states or any of them; nor do they mean that the power to enforce is divided between congress and the several states along the lines which separate or distinguish foreign and interstate commerce from intrastate affairs.

"9.—The power conferred to congress by that section while not exclusive, is

territorially co-extensive with the prohibition of the first section, embraces manufacture and other intrastate transactions as well as importation, exportation and interstate traffic, and is in no wise dependent on or affected by action or inaction on the part of several states or any of them.

"10.—That power may be exerted against the disposal for beverage purposes of liquor manufactured before the amendment became effective just as it may be against subsequent manufacture for those purposes. In either case it is a constitutional mandate or prohibition that is being enforced.

"11.—While recognizing that there are limits beyond which congress cannot go in treating beverages as within its power of enforcement, we think those limits are not transcended by the provision of the Volstead act, wherein liquors containing as much as one-half of one per cent. of alcohol by volume and fit for use for beverage purposes are treated as within that power. Jacob Ruppert vs. Caffey, 251, U. S. 264."

Called Wonderful Victory

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A.C. Gilbreath, 703 Reed street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man."

For years I have been selling through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily conquered.

"This decision clinches the greatest reform victory in the history of this country, and perhaps in the history of mankind.

"The prohibition party will not, however, vacate the field until one or both of the major political parties have spoken in their platforms, making the effective their settled party policy."

Volstead act or some measure equally must fight against a beer and wine amendment to the Volstead act and against lax enforcement.

"The victory is the more significant," said Mr. Wheeler, "because of the unprecedented fight made against it by liquor interests and the eminent counsel which they retained. These decisions mark the culmination of the greatest victory for moral and social reform ever achieved by a self-governing people."

"11.—While recognizing that there are limits beyond which congress cannot go in treating beverages as within its power of enforcement, we think those limits are not transcended by the provision of the Volstead act, wherein liquors containing as much as one-half of one per cent. of alcohol by volume and fit for use for beverage purposes are treated as within that power. Jacob Ruppert vs. Caffey, 251, U. S. 264."

Called Wonderful Victory

CHICAGO, June 8.—The supreme court's decision in the prohibition case "kills the liquor traffic as dead as slavery," Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, who is here attending the republican convention declared in a statement on the decision. Prohibitionists, he said, now

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 8.—Stocks were inclined to react at the quiet opening of today's session, yesterday's late rally in call loans encouraging the efforts to resume the recent advance. There were a few exceptions, however, leading, Harvester and Royal Dutch soon scoring gains of 10 points. The heavier issues included Mercantile Marine preferred, which fell 1 1/2, low grade oils, several of the steels, and also equipments and motors, in which losses ranged from 1 1/2 to 5 points. Shares of the granger railroads were backward, despite further favorable crop prospects.

The market rallied from its early setback on the further strength of Reading, which rose almost 4 points. New York Central also developed a firmer tone with numerous secondary issues. These included Texas & Pacific, Kansas City Southern, St. Louis & Western preferred, Rock Island and New Haven at gains of 1 to 1 1/2 points. Other strong stocks included American Sugar, Industrial Alcohol, Crucible Steel, Chandler Motor and Atlantic Gulf. Mercantile Marine advanced 1 1/2, but paper shares forfeited part of their recent advance. Indications of increasing firmness in call money were seen in the reported rate of 7 per cent. The market lapsed into dullness before noon.

Dullness became more pronounced during the mid-session on call money's rise to 8 per cent. Aside from the weakness of Chicago & Northwestern, which fell 3 points, changes among representative stocks were unimportant. Greater interest was manifested in the course of events in Chicago. Reduction of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway's dividend and preferred dividends and still firmer money rates provoked fresh selling later except among oils and equipments.

BOYLE AND DOWNES ARE TRAINING HARD

Phinney Boyle, Lowell's aspirant for the New England lightweight title, is training hard for his bout with Johnny Downes, of South Boston, to be staged at Spaulding park next Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Crescent A. A.

Boyle was out on the road yesterday morning and after completing a long run arrived at the Y.M.C.A. gym, where he took a rub and then engaged in light boxing. His manager, Jack Leahy, is working hard to have the local fight in the best condition of his career. He says that right now Boyle is in pretty fair shape, but that by Friday night he will be in the "pink".

Downes is putting in much time on the road and in the gymnasium and that he is confident of hitting the victorious march of the Lowell boy.

The bout is regarded as one of the most important of the season and the winner will have an undisputed claim to consideration for a title match with Frankie Britt.

There will be three other bouts, two eight round events and a six round preliminary.

SWIMMING LESSONS FOR SCHOOL BOYS

During the entire day yesterday, from 8:30 to 3:30, 240 grammar school boys were given their first swimming instruction in the Y.M.C.A. pool by Physical Instructor Albert Waterman and Assistant Frank W. Pike.

After taking to the water the boys were given "skull" practice in the essentials of swimming and in removing the fear of sinking in water. The first lesson was given on the crawl stroke and with two more lessons this week the director promises that the 240 boys will know how to swim.

The undertaking of the "Y" in their annual swimming campaign which is managed in co-operation with the public schools as the boys are allowed time from their studies to attend the pool. Those boys who are able to swim but who attempt to visit the pool for pleasure are prevented from so doing by the efforts of the schoolmasters and the attention of the instructor, who singles out the swimmers and sends them back to school.

MITCHELL BOYS' MILITARY SCHOOL

Since events are staged for third and fourth year students the annual track and field meet of the Mitchell Boys' Military school, which was held yesterday afternoon on the school grounds in Billerica, drew a large number of spectators. The records of 11 seconds for the 100-yard dash and of 24 2-4 seconds for the 220-yard dash, which have been unequalled for nine years, were broken yesterday by William B. Luce of Vineyard Haven, Mass.

He lowered the 100-yard dash record to 10 1-2 seconds and the 220-yard dash to 24 1-2 seconds. As the star of the meet, Luce was awarded the gold medal. Edward E. Chute was awarded the silver medal and Donald F. Whitten of Peabody, the bronze medal.

In the events for boys 12 years or under, William F. Goodlove of New York city won the gold medal and George D. Wells the silver medal. Henry L. Mason, vice president of the Alumni association of the school, donated the prizes.

U. S. OARSMEN TO SAIL FOR EUROPE

NEWPORT, R. I., June 3.—The score was even when the U. S. Regatta started today on the third of their official trial races to determine the defender of the America's cup. Regatta's victory on Tuesday and Vanitie's win yesterday placed the yacht on even terms and there was great interest on both boats over the outcome of today's race.

Early weather conditions were favorable. There was very little wind and a long ocean roll as a result of last week's storm. The start was set for 11 a. m. and several yachts went out with the racers to watch the event, which was scheduled to be over a windward and leeward course.

Lodge Flings Down Gauntlet

States to take a firm hand in things Mexican and end the "disgraceful record" of the last seven years. Senator Lodge urged that this country let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then lend him a real and cordial support.

"Mexico lies at our doors," he declared. "It is a primary duty for us to deal with it under the Monroe doctrine, but nothing has been done and yet we are asked to take a mandate for Armenia."

Wilson and Dynasty Must Go

Salient points made by Senator Lodge were:

"Mr. Wilson and his dynasty, his heirs and assigns, or anybody that is his, anybody who with bent knee has served his purposes, must be driven from all control, from all influence upon the government of the United States."

"They must be driven from office and power, not because they are democrats, but because Mr. Wilson stands for a theory of administration and government which is not American."

"The return of the democrats to power with Mr. Wilson or one of his disciples still the leader and master of a great party, which before his advent possessed both traditions and principles, would be a long step in the direction of the autocracy for which Mr. Wilson yearns and a heavy blow to the continuance of free representative government as we have always conceived and venerated it."

"Mr. Wilson and the autocracy he represents, and all which those who believe in his doctrine and share his spirit represent, must be put aside and conclusively excluded from any future control."

Must Have Republican President

"The defeat of the present administration and all it means, transcends in importance every other question and all immediate and dominant issues are bound up with it. Without that defeat, every chance of the right settlement of the mighty questions before us, so sorely needed now and not later, will depart."

"To maintain law and order and a stable government where justice rules and the right of all men, high and low, rich and poor, shall be protected, we must have a government of the people, duty chosen by the people, and never must there be permitted any government by a single man or by a group of men, or by an organized minority."

"Many vital economic measures and especially protective tariff legislation to guard our industries, are impossible with a democratic free trader of socialist proclivities in the White House. To accomplish such measures as these, we must have, as we intend to have, a republican president, in sympathy with a republican house and senate."

H.C.L. Most Pressing Problem

"The rise of prices, the high cost of living which reach daily into every home, is the most pressing, as it is the most difficult and most essential problem which confronts us. Some of the sources of this trouble can be reached by legislation, although not all, but everything that can be effected by law should be done at once."

"Profiteering, the charging of extortionate and unjustified prices, which is stupid as well as unlawful, are subject now to ample punitive laws. Those laws should be enforced, others if necessary added, and the offenders both great and small should be pursued and punished."

"The most essential remedy for high costs (of living) is to keep up and increase production and particularly should every effort be made to advance the productivity of the farms."

Government Ownership

"The phrase 'government ownership' means not only that the government shall own the railroads but also, it is to be feared, that those who run the railroads shall own the government. General government ownership under our political system would inevitably bring about the mastery of the government by those who operate the machinery of transportation or of any other industries which come into government possession. The rights of the general public, for whom all industries exist, would disappear under this scheme and nothing would be left to the people except the duty of paying taxes to support the roads."

600 Americans Murdered in Mexico

"Over 600 Americans have been murdered in Mexico. Carranza insulted the American government in every possible way and still nothing was done. We fell so low that when an American was seized by one of the many bands of brigands and held for ransom, all that the government of the United States would do, was to offer to be the channel for conveying the ransom of their citizens to the highwaymen who had seized them."

"We have watched and waited long enough. We need a firm hand at the helm. The time has come to put an end to this Mexican situation, which is a shame to the United States and a disgrace to civilization. If we are to take part in pacifying and helping the world, let us begin here at home in Mexico."

"Let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and let the United States give him a real and cordial support, and so strengthen and uphold him that he will be able to exterminate the bandits and put an end to the unending civil war."

was clear. . . . That course was to make the peace with Germany at once and then take up for reasonable consideration the question of establishing such future relations with our associates in the war as would make for the future peace of the world. This Mr. Wilson prevented. He went to Europe.

"He had apparently only one aim, to be the maker of a league of which he should be the head. He was determined that there should be a League of Nations then and there and in order to nullify the powers of the senate given by the Constitution of the United States, he decided to make the league an integral part of the treaty of peace with Germany. Thus he presented to the senate, and intended to present, a dilemma from which he believed there was no escape. In order to have peace with Germany, he meant to compel the senate to accept with it the League of Nations."

"The republicans of the senate, perceiving the danger of the league, determined to resist Mr. Wilson's demand. The American people will never accept that alliance with foreign nations proposed by the president. The president, meantime, has remained inflexible. He is determined to have that treaty as he brought it back or nothing, and to that imperious demand the people will reply in tones which cannot be misunderstood."

Question Goes to People

"We have stopped Mr. Wilson's treaty and the question goes to the people. In 1916 Mr. Wilson won on the cry that he had kept us out of war."

He now demands the approval of the American people for his party and his administration on the ground that he has kept us out of peace.

"The league must be discussed in every district and in every state and we desire to have the verdict so clearly given that no man who seeks to represent the people in the senate, in the house or in any place or in any degree, can have the slightest doubt as to his duty."

"We make the issue: we ask approval for what we have done. The people will now tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's league and its sacrifice of America."

"They (the people) will tear aside the veil of words woven to blind and deceive and come down to the essential and vital point—Mr. Wilson's plan on one side and the independence and safety of the United States on the other."

In their own way and with their own arguments defeat Mr. Wilson's league as he desires it, whether amended by him or in its pristine simplicity."

Senator Lodge charged the democratic party with responsibility for the "perilous conditions of the hour," and said, if the republican party fails to grapple it effectively, "the Russian descent into barbarism will begin to draw near."

A beginning had been made, he said, by a republican congress in restoring economic conditions, "working under compulsion."

all the difficulties and opposition imposed by a hostile executive." He enumerated various beneficial measures, adding that the estimates had been reduced over a billion dollars. He advocated enforcement of the laws against profiteering, and said it was possible to check the advance of prices by law, by providing for "the control of credits in such manner as to give preference to the most essential products." He described the railroad act "as a single great law which in any period would be sufficient to distinguish a congress as one of high accomplishment."

Scenes and Characters in Historical Pageant Staged on South Common

MISS AGNES JEYES AS "LUCY LARCOM"

Thousands Viewed Pageant

side on the oval level and stretched out around the pool and half-way up the other side toward Highland and Thordike streets. And there was hardly one in that vast throng who turned homeward before the final tableau was finished.

Engendering an eleventh hour magnetism worthy of a world series baseball game, a football classic in the Yale bowl or a Crimson-Blue crew race at New London, the pageant elevated itself to the loftiest pinnacle of public interest. And all this in the face of a necessary yet dangerous postponement from Saturday afternoon until last evening. There might have been a more common "the loss to the breeze that swept under uncertain skies, but it is hard to visualize a more perfect setting less it be in the midst of bright sunlight.

Undoubtedly if Saturday had been clear, the crowd would have approximated 30,000 and possibly more, for it is fair to assume that 6 p. m. is not so convenient to people in general as 8 o'clock on a half-holiday afternoon, such as Saturday would have been.

The pageant itself is not being less clear of the oval area wired off, the "stage" was adequate and admirably suited to all the pageant needs. On the bandstand side was a small platform, while behind it and screening the participants from view prior to their entrance, was a beautiful fringe of young birch trees in full leaf. On the other three sides were people. The platform was used only once or twice, principally during President Jackson's visit in 1833 and during the final episode.

Before attempting to individualize any of the pageant features, the reviewer feels that he would be exceedingly lax in the essentials of appreciation if he did not at once bring into the story the one person who predominated the pageant from start to finish. Seldom has a Lowell man or woman been asked to accomplish the task set before Mrs. Julian B. Keyes, executive chairman and the dynamo of suggestion and action behind the presentation. True, she had a full measure of co-operation from any number of sub-committees, individuals, whole societies and other groups, but like Foch, she was the tactical genius responsible for the pageant's success and richly deserves unstinted recognition of her efforts. The amount of detail in preparation must have been tremendous and her signal success at once places her in the very fore-front of Lowell's most brilliant and capable managers and organizers.

Outstanding Features
While each of the five episodes into which the pageant was divided and the prologue had its outstanding feature, it is a ticklish job to differentiate a point of preference without slighting somewhere along the line. However, considering the five episodes, which, by the way, were based absolutely upon established historical facts relative to the land now covered by Lowell, the first—depicting Indian days—with such characters as Passaconaway, Wannanahett, John Eliot and Capt. Goodwin as principals, seemed to outcolor the others just a trifle. From the moment the two canoes appeared on the surface of the wading pool, bringing Passaconaway and his braves, until the chieftain departed after the peace pipe had been passed from hand to hand and eternal friendship with the white man had been sealed, the scene was splendidly done. Tents were pitched in no time, campfires kindled merrily and Indian maidens and squaws chanted the while they danced in adoration of the sun god. One canoe of braves became a little tipsy just before the party landed "on the riverbank" and for a time threatened to capsize. Helping hands were extended from the shore, however, and the Indians escaped with wet feet and a few bedraggled feathers.

The Candle Light Ball
Treading upon the heels of Indian days in a popularity race was the Candle Light ball in the third episode, participated in by boys and girls of the high school. The portrayal of this old time social event which years ago was a semi-annual feature of society gathering in the Old Stone House in Pawtucket street was one of the most quaintly beautiful pictures imaginable. The costuming was correct in every detail; the young ladies as sweet and demure as any "in grandmother's day," and the young gentlemen as courteous as told in the legends and stories of the earlier days of the 19th century.

Litigated candles were placed on the ground at regular intervals and around them the boys and girls stepped sedately and daintily in the mincing figures of the minuet. The candles were again taken up and after a series of marching steps the scene ended. It was cordially applauded.

The Spirit of Lowell
To revert to the pageant's beginning, the prologue was the only part in which the authors delved into the land of pretend and make-believe. In this Miss Helen Osgood as the Spirit of Lowell gathered her kindred spirits about her on the stage and wove out a story of the city's great, contented population. The Spirit of Unity brought the heaven to the whole and with Art, Science, Water, Spindle, Hope, Future, Youth, Liberty, Childhood, Joy and Play, the community idea was carried out most effectively.

The episode of Indian days already has been reviewed. It was in the hands of members of Lowell Post of the American Legion, with John J. Walsh as Passaconaway; James Gearson as his son, Wannanahett; J. P. McLaughlin as John Eliot and John O'Grady as Capt. Goodwin, in the principal character portrayals.

The domestic life of colonial and revolutionary days was brought out in the second episode, which brought Molly and J. B. Varnum once again into familiar fields and showed Tithoree Fraahorn and her daughter, Mandlin coming as exiles from far-off Acadia. Mrs. Nettie L. Roberts as Madame Fraahorn sang Catholic mission hymns as she came into the colonial settlement and her rich contralto voice carried to all parts of the vast assembly. Miss Helen Eveleth was her daughter, Mandlin. Henry H. Harris, headmaster of the high school, in a much befuddled uniform, was a dashing Capt. Ford, under whose command all poured into the "common" where the honored minute men were again recruited.

The birth of the Canal System
Lowell's development between the years of 1825 and 1860 was shown in the third episode. First the proprietors of the Locks and Canals come in to purchase the water power from the nearby farmers and eventually sealed the transaction with generous bumpers of grape juice. More than 150 little girls gave a beautiful symbolic representation of the manufacture of cotton; the Candle Light ball was held and as a finale President Jackson, escorted by Mayor Peabody, rode through a line of mill girls led by Lucy Larcom. The president received on the platform and was accorded every honor. The parade of mill girls, with Miss Agnes Jeyes as Lucy Larcom, in the lead was a pretty feature.

The fourth episode carried history through the fateful days of '60 and '63 and depicted Lowell's part in the great war of the rebellion. General Butler's return to his home city in 1865 was the cause of much rejoicing and once again Mayor Peabody, splendidly played by Frank K. Stearns, was a gracious host. General Butler was portrayed by John J. O'Rourke. On the mayor's staff were William W. Donnell, Arthur K. Whitcomb, James F. Conway and William Boland.

Grand Army of the Republic
Just before the episode ended, a score or more members of the Grand Army of the Republic, living reminders of those days a half century and more ago and representing the three Lowell posts of the G.A.R., marched across the stage amid the reverential plaudits of the crowd. The veterans were in command of Dudley L. Page of General B. F. Butler Post, 42; F. B. Flanders of James A. Garfield Post, 120, and Frank H. S. Pevey, Ladd & Whitney Post, 155.

The fifth and last episode dropped into the realm of the symbolic for a moment as the Spirit of America, played by Miss Mary Holden, a last-minute substitute for Miss Ruth Bill, who was ill and unable to appear, entered and summoned the Spirit of Lowell to ask of this city's part in the great world war.

Then entered representatives of practically every nationality included in the city's cosmopolitanism: Armenians, Belgians, Chinese, English (the flag carried by Mrs. George B. Marshall being one that was used at the front in Europe for four years and was sent to her at the close of the war) French, Greek, Irish (with the A.O.H. members following the new flag of the Irish republic) Italians, Jews, Lithuanians, Poles, Portuguese, Scotch and Swedes.

North Middlesex chapter of the American Red Cross was represented by Miss Leslie Hylan and a group of girls in the beautiful white costume of the service. Then came the Misses Dorothy Migneault and Anita Ahlberg in costumes of red, white and blue to give the National dance as the hand played "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The Human Flag Tableau
Beautiful beyond description was the final tableau when 100 girls dressed in costumes of red, white and blue formed into a square and made a living flag. The band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," the vast crowd rose to its feet and stood in silence as the effect of this final scene magnified more and more. It was a glorious closing to a splendid work.

Early in the pageant a chorus of about 100 voices sang in "behind the scenes" under the direction of Mr. E. G. Hood and while the volume of tone did not penetrate to the outskirts of the crowd, those in fairly close proximity enjoyed it immensely.

A word should be said in commendation of the excellent work done by a detail of police under the direction of Lieut. Ryan and Sergt. Frawley, backed up by a multitude of Boy Scouts. As far as could be seen, there was perfect order. The stage lines were held intact and while the crowd surged forward at times, almost automatically, there was no interrupting overflow onto the field.

Seated on a bench just below the crowd on the Summer street slope were Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson, Commissioner and Mrs. George E. Mar-
